ORNITHOLOGIST IS KILLED BY FALL

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 23.—(UP)—Ralph Hoffman, 62, widely known ornithologist and director of the Santa Barbara national history museum, was killed yesterday on San Miguel island when he fell down a cliff on which he had been hunting specimens.

Hoffman was using a trowel to scale the cliff. The handle broke and he fell upon sharp rocks below. San Miguel island is one of the Santa Barbara group 25 miles off shore.

For many years Hoffman was headmaster of several private schools, abandoning this work for scientific study. "Birds of the Pacific States" was one of his books. Hoffman was a graduate of Harvard and a brother of Bernard Hoffman, wealthy electrical engineer and founder of the Community Arts movement here. He leaves a widow, a son and two daughters.

OLYMPIC ATHLETIC TEAM IS MISSING

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(UP)—The Olympic Games committee had lost one athletic team today. Eight representatives of Cuba were scheduled to arrive here on the S. S. California but they were not aboard.

Dr. J. A. Torralbas, Cuba's vice consul, said he received word from Havana on July 12 that Cuba's five athletes and three officials left on the California.

Dr. Torralbas was at the dock to meet the California and to extend an official welcome but was advised the Cuban team was not aboard.

ARMS CONFERENCE ADJOURNS

World Oil Producers Agree On Restriction

AGREEMENT REACHED AT PARIS MEET

Will Restore Good Relations Between U. S. and European Nations, Said TO INCREASE PRICES

Russia is Only Important Nation Not Party to Agreement on Reduction

PARIS, July 23.—(UP)—Representatives of the leading oil companies of the world signed an agreement today for a general restriction of production through which it is hoped many of the ills of the industry will be solved.

The agreement was reached after several weeks of discussion during which time the Roumanian interests were reluctant to sign pending assurance that Russia, which was not represented, would also cut her production.

Great satisfaction was expressed by the American delegates to the conference since the agreement was expected to remove the present unhealthy condition on the European markets and to restore the good relations between the American Socony-Vacuum interests and the Royal Dutch interests which have recently engaged in cutthroat competition.

The agreement will respect present export proportions of the principal countries thus preventing costly competition, while at the same time uniting the industry against the Russian interests who are not expected to become a party to the agreement.

Another point is that American, British and Dutch interests will increase prices of petroleum products throughout Europe with a possibility of also spreading the increase to the United States.

The delegates issued a formal statement stating the accord is "designed to ameliorate the present situation in important European markets."

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 23.—(UP)—The death of two young farm girls was partially clarified today, brought about in the Zumbro river today, brought about in the Zumbro river today, brought about in the Zumbro river today.

Manuslaughter charges were being prepared against the men today.

The bodies of the girls, Louise Prigge, 22, and Frances Polkowski, 21, both of Millville, Minn., were recovered from the river. The cause of death has not yet been determined definitely.

The men, who officers said confessed accompanying the young women on a "pick up" date, were Rueben Krueger, truck driver, and J. E. Sally, mechanic, both of Plainview, Minn.

PRUSSIA SEEKS REDRESS FROM HIGHEST COURT

Discards Street Fighting in Effort to Establish Rights by Law

BERLIN, July 23.—(UP)—Bavaria and Prussia discarded bayonets and street fighting today for a state's rights battle in supreme court where they denied the Federal Government's right to throw the Berlin police chief in jail, and seize the state police forces.

But the supreme court in session at Leipzig ruled that the question could not be dealt with constitutionally at this time. A fortnight's time must elapse, it ruled, before the procedure may be opened. Then, politicians predicted, the decision would be favorable to the Reich.

The state of Bavaria asked the court to rule on the extent of the Reich's power to interfere with the government of states.

The Prussian cabinet filed a petition for an injunction against the Reich administering Prussian affairs until the court ruled on the constitutionality of the decree under which the Von Papen cabinet executed its putsch.

The government, meanwhile, was prepared to outlaw the Communist party if Communists persisted in their efforts to call a general strike.

They were particularly hostile after the government arrested Col. Magnus Heimann, commander of the Berlin police, Major Walter Encke, and Ernest Carlsberg, local leader of the Reichsbanner, on suspicion of plotting to restore Heimann to office.

Heimann was released, and the office of the military commander of Berlin and Brandenburg under the decree of virtual martial law, said Carlsberg also would be freed. Encke remained in custody.

The official charge of plotting to restore the police commander to office was considered rather vague.

The younger Socialists denied these charges heatedly, while Socialists leaders called them absurd.

BLAZE ON GAMING SHIP IS ACCIDENT

LONG BEACH, July 23.—(UP)—With the owners decided that the burning of the gambling ship Johanna Smith was accidental and not the result of a gambling feud, a coast guard vessel stood guard over the hulk today preparing to set off a charge of dynamite which will remove the wreckage as a menace to navigation.

John S. Cooper, attorney for the owners, announced that his clients were satisfied that the burning was an accident, and that no investigation would be asked. The owners already are negotiating for the purchase of a new barge, he said.

Vice President Curtis To Open Games

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(UP)—Vice President Charles Curtis today accepted an invitation to open the Olympic Games.

He sent the following telegram to William May Garland, president of the organization committee of the Olympic Games:

"It gives me great pleasure to accept your invitation to open the Olympics. I will arrive in Los Angeles on the Los Angeles Limited over the Union Pacific system at 8:50 Friday morning, July 27. There will be no official party. I will be alone except for one secret service man. Will be compelled to leave Sunday, July 31."

NEW LOAN BILL TO STIMULATE HOME BUILDING

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The government is mobilizing a potential $2,000,000,000 of credit to prevent foreclosure of American homes and to make it easier to build new ones.

All of it, under terms of the home loan bank bill signed by President Hoover, is to go to aid the owner and builder of small and medium sized homes. The act specifically withholds benefits from homes costing more than $20,000.

$75,000 FIELD OF MARIJUANA IS DISCOVERED

Sheriff's Office Accidently Finds Crop; Grower Under Arrest

AN ENTIRE FIELD of marijuana, growing between rows of sweet corn, and valued at retail prices at close to $75,000 was discovered by sheriff's officers and James Bouldin, chief of police of Anaheim, near Garden Grove yesterday afternoon.

Immediately after the discovery, the officers arrested Joe Carrisoza, 41, resident of the property where the weed was found, and lodged him in the county jail on a charge of violation of the state prison act, a felony charge which carries a sentence of from one to six years in the state prison.

The discovery of the vast amount of marijuana was made while the officers, Deputy Sheriffs Art Ellis, E. E. Perry, Earl Nickles and Chief Bouldin were scouring a section of the county near Garden Grove for a man wanted on a felony charge. The finding of the weed was accidental.

The officers looked into a barn, located one and a half miles north of Lincoln avenue off the Garden Grove road. Inside were Carrisoza and his wife, and both were at work "drying" stems and leaves of the narcotic. Making this find, the officers immediately started looking for other plants and discovered the entire field.

It was so cleverly hidden inside the corn field that it may have gone unnoticed forever had not Carrisoza and his wife been at work on their plants at the time the officers walked into the barn.

The corn field is about a half

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(UP)—Authentic dispatches from Manchuria today quoted a Japanese military spokesman as saying that if Chinese Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang sent troops into Jehol province, it would be regarded as a hostile act.

The Japanese are reported to have sent two companies into the Jehol province of China to rescue a Japanese officer, said to have been captured by Chinese bandits. This act has created wide resentment in China, where it is viewed as an infringement of Chinese sovereignty.

Since the Japanese drove him from Manchuria last winter, Marshal Chang has been in and around Peiping. Some reports have said that he intended to move troops into Jehol province, to the north, to protect it from the Japanese.

EDITORS TO ELECT OFFICERS MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—(UP)—Newspaper editors from various parts of the nation, members of the National Editorial association, were to begin the final sessions of their annual convention here today.

Following a leisurely trip down the coast from San Francisco, with stops at many cities, 500 delegates were prepared to open the first of their business sessions which will occupy three days.

Crombie Allen of Ontario, Cal., was to speak on "Russian and American Journalism," and George F. Church, of Stillwater, Okla., on "Country Correspondence."

Officers are to be elected Monday, when a successor to L. M. Nichols, Bristow, Okla., this year's president, will be selected.

Men Refuse To Leave On Nation Tour

Crippled Chief Planning to Depart Alone Today for Los Angeles

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—Federal officials moved against the bonus army veterans today with notices that two make-shift camps must be vacated by Monday.

A representative of the treasury department was dispatched shortly after noon to post the notices at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue and in an area of nondescript huts behind the agriculture department. The areas are under treasury supervision.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—The little legion of California bonus army veterans who engaged in a dramatic picket of the Capitol a week ago deserted their leadership today and refused to participate in a proposed political barnstorming tour of the country.

While their crippled ex-soldier leader, Roy W. Robertson, planned to leave alone during the day for Los Angeles, the remainder of the "death march" battalion refused to leave the city and indicated they would remain here until next Thursday at least.

Thirty-five District of Columbia trucks, stocked with food, were detailed to take Robertson's men out of the city in accordance with his plan to engage in a political tour. Robertson's order to take the road went unheeded. His 300 men refused to accept the police lift to Frederick, Md., the first stop on a proposed trek by automobile and

FILM IMPORT BILL SIGNED IN PARIS

PARIS, July 23.—(UP)—The ministries of national education, foreign affairs and commerce today signed the draft of the government's decree limiting film imports.

It is probable that the decree will become definite Tuesday. Under the decree a curb is placed on the "dubbing" process under which the French language was substituted for foreign languages in talkies. American producers, through Will Hays' organization in Europe, have been opposing the plan to establish a quota on "dubbed" films, as such action threatens to wipe out 90 per cent of American film commerce here.

It is understood, however, that the quota plan remains in the final draft.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SLAIN BY BANDITS

CHICAGO, July 23.—(UP)—Jack A. Werner, 38, deputy sheriff working in a detail gathering gambling evidence for State's Attorney John A. Swanson, was slain near midnight last night.

A burst of machine gun fire from a travelling squad of gangster snipers cut down the deputy as he was driving in his automobile on the southside. A young woman who accompanied Werner in the car escaped with a slight wound.

Police believed it probable Werner was slain by gangsters against whom he had been gathering evidence in Swanson's cleanup of gambling places. Another theory was that the deputy was the victim of mistaken identity.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED ON CLOSING DAY

Germany and Russia Opposed to Resolution and Italy Refuses to Vote WILL MEET IN FALL

Delegates of Several Nations Declare Resolution as Adopted "Weak"

GENEVA, July 23.—(UP)—The resolution adjourning the world disarmament conference until autumn and embodying the work of the conference to date was adopted today.

The vote by the general commission was 41 to two, with eight abstentions.

Germany and Russia voted against the resolution, Italy abstained.

The conference voted a four months extension of the disarmament truce after November 1; nobody opposed the extension. China abstained from voting.

The provisions provided that the conference they would not reconvene the autumn session unless a solution was found for their demand for equality in disarmament. High officials, however, believed Germany would not be absent when the conference reconvenes.

Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinoff repeatedly voiced the Soviet contention that the resolution was "too weak."

Italy took a similar attitude. The smaller nations who objected included Albania, Afghanistan, Austria, Bulgaria, Hungary and Turkey. China also abstained.

The provisions provided that the work of the conference be carried on in negotiations during the summer recess. It left many important points to be settled before the conference reconvenes.

The conference adjourned after setting the date of the next meeting of the steering committee for September 21. The committee was instructed to reassemble the conference within four months after that time.

MEMBERS OF GREEN GANG SENTENCED

FRESNO, Cal., July 23.—(UP)—Two members of the "Green Gang" of Coalinga today awaited transfer to San Quentin prison and two others were to be sentenced later.

All pleaded guilty to burglary charges.

They were Alfred (Hap) Green, alleged leader, who admitted burglary of a store at Biola, as did Ralph (Swede) Johnson. Both also pleaded guilty to burglary of a freight car at Kerman. Green sought and obtained a week stay of execution and Johnson asked probation.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 23.—(To the Editor of The Register.) An artist in New York, because his sale of antiques didn't turn out so hot, got hostile at us. He said a "William and Mary" mirror only brought the paltry $400. Well, my boy, William hasn't got a mirror, but my daughter Mary has, and if I can get her away from the front of it I will be glad to add Bill's name to it and let the "Rogers William and Mary" go for $1.30. I will show that bird what depression really is. He says America is a "race of children and rogues governed by morons." Well, that last part is what the Democrats are trying to remedy.

GRIEFER OF AMERICAN GIRL DIES IN NIGHT

Ziegfeld's death was unexpected although his condition had been critical for several weeks. He had been under treatment at a New Mexico sanatorium and was brought here this week when he suddenly became worse. His physicians, however, had thought him improving in the last few days.

The brilliant Broadway figure's death came at a moment when he was in the midst of plans for another spectacular theatrical extravaganza. His visit to the West Coast was to arrange for staging the latest edition of the "Follies" here during the Olympic Games.

This illness interrupted preparations for the production. He had practically completed his arrangements when forced to give up the venture by the attack of pleurisy.

Born in Chicago in 1868, Ziegfeld's rise to the heights of the theatrical fame combined an odd mixture of astute business sense, artistic dreams and visionary theories.

Through the passing fancies of the "new world" Ziegfeld moved forward, changing his productions to suit the popular vagaries but always a leader.

Death came to Ziegfeld just a few minutes before the hour when the curtain ordinarily fell on one of his lavish extravaganzas.

The great producer was alone in his hospital chamber, the door to the institution. He lay on the white hospital bed, the fragrance of many flowers in the air. A few minutes before he had gladly bade goodnight to his wife and 15-year-old daughter.

Miss Burke had gone to the R-K-O film studio where she was engaged in making a motion picture. His daughter Patricia had returned to their home at Santa Monica.

Irene Kennedy, 26, one of Ziegfeld's three nurses, each of them rivalling in beauty some of the stars of the producer's "Follies," entered the room attracted by the sound of two sharp gasps.

At a glance she saw her patient was dead of dying. Ziegfeld's personal physician, Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, was out. Miss Kennedy reached his associate, Dr. Maurice Rabinowich who was in the hospital, and he hurried to the bedside.

Ziegfeld had suffered a heart attack and, weakened by the long stage of pleurisy and pneumonia, his body had been too feeble to resist longer.

Miss Burke hurried from the film lot. She collapsed as she entered the room and found she had been too late to see her husband alive. Patricia arrived a few moments later and the mother and daughter wept unreservedly.

A moment later Will Rogers, whose cowboy act was one of the most sensational successes ever to come out of the Follies appeared with his wife. He had been told of the death of his old friend and patron.

Sadly he comforted the producer's beautiful wife and daughter. A few minutes later Miss Burke and her daughter left to spend the night with the Rogers.

After the first outburst Miss Burke regained her outward composure and calmly comforted her weeping daughter.

The shock of the death was heightened by the apparent strides toward recovery Ziegfeld had made in the last few days. His wife and daughter dined with him in the flower banked hospital room with its view over the profuse flower gardens of the institution.

His fever had abated and his spirits were high. Soon he hoped to be leaving for his home and the life among his artistic professions that he loved.

An autopsy was ordered by Dr. Fishbaugh today. It was to be conducted by Dr. Herman Zeller, pathologist of the Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

PRINTING BILL IS PAID TO GINN FIRM

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 23.—(UP)—Another chapter in the long battle to require all public school textbooks to be printed by the state was written here today with the payment of $48,750 to Ginn & Company, publishers, for music books.

The state board of education demanded a music book that only Ginn & Company could produce, as that company would not lend plates to the state for printing.

The order was stoutly contested by State Printer Harry Hammond, who insisted that books just as good could be obtained elsewhere and printed by the state.

After the supreme court upheld the right of the board of making the purchase, the claim was ordered paid.

Society Told Of Church Meetings

GREENVILLE, July 23.—Mrs. Schuyler Kuffie was hostess Thursday afternoon at her home to members of the Woman's Home Missionary society, eight being present.

Plans for securing jams and jellies for a special purpose was proposed and the idea accepted for the next meeting of the society, which will be held the third Thursday in August at the parsonage home of the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Laird at Talbert.

The study book, "Methodism and the World Needs," was taken up in the lesson study and the Rev. Mr. Laird led a part of the program.

The pastor and his wife, who are at Greenville and Talbert for the summer, gave interesting accounts of their trip and the conference at Sacramento.

Mrs. Anna Kritz Called By Death

SUNSET BEACH, July 23.—The body of Mrs. Anna Kritz, 66, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Miss Marge Kritz, in Sunset Beach Thursday night, is being taken to Hibbing, Minn., for burial. Miss Kritz is accompanying the body east.

A son, Clifford Kritz, lives in San Pedro. Mrs. Kritz was brought to Sunset Beach the first part of this month. She had been ill for some time.

TAKEN FOR A RIDE
PETERSBURG, Ind.—Lloyd Russell, 14, has a fish story to tell. He was fishing from a boat in White River. He had a bit and started to reel in. But the tugging on the end of his line was too strong for his young arms. The fish began to gain on the boy. The boat began to move, and Lloyd was towed down the river for quite a distance before the fish tired and was landed. It was a 41-pound sturgeon.

Those present were Mrs. F. E. Harrison, Mrs. Charles Harper, Mrs. W. S. Wallace, Mrs. Charlotte Wallace, Miss Bertha Youngs, Mrs. Otto Linnert the hostess, Mrs. Taylor and the honor guest, Mrs. Robertson.

box car to far flung points throughout the nation.

"We've got to stay around here and get loans on our adjusted service certificates," said Arthur Scott, Los Angeles veteran. "We'll be out of here by next Thursday, though."

Scott succeeded Robertson to the command when Robertson made his farewells before starting to Los Angeles.

Robertson doubted that Walter W. Waters, commander of the main bonus army, could hold his men here much longer.

"Those men know there is nothing to stay here for except to see Waters strut around with new boots on and a new black cane to swagger with," the Californian said.

The morale of Waters' ill-fated forces was strengthened, however, when District of Columbia commissioners back down on an order to evict the veterans from government property.

The commissioners had directed police Superintendent Glassford to clear the main force out of Anacostia park by August 4 and to evict 1800 men from unwholesome buildings along Pennsylvania avenue by last midnight.

Waters in reply marched 500 men over from Anacostia to reinforce the Pennsylvania avenue contingent, told them to sit tight, "and not just as rough as the police if the police get rough."

Glassford then went into a long conference with the commissioners which resulted in announcement that the eviction order would be withheld "until certain legal requirements" had been arranged. The legal matters concerned issuance of court orders for eviction of the men.

Mrs. Robertson Party Honoree

ORANGE, July 23.—Mrs. H. S. Taylor, South Orange street, was hostess Friday at a birthday party given in honor of Mrs. Parker Robertson. Guests included a group of women from the First Presbyterian church who are interested in dressing and making dolls for the leper children of India. The afternoon was spent at this pastime and at its close a number of the pretty toys had been completed. The dolls were cut, stuffed by some of the women and faces and hair painted by others, while cunning dresses and shoes were fashioned by others.

Mrs. Taylor served an ice course at one long table, which was centered with a big yellow birthday cake laced in pink. These tints were used in all of the table appointments and nut cups were in the chosen colors while tall pink tapers in rose crystal holders were at each end of the table. Rose crystal service was used in serving the dairy refreshments. Flowers used on the table and in the home were in pastel tints.

Those present were Mrs. F. E. Harrison, Mrs. Charles Harper, Mrs. W. S. Wallace, Mrs. Charlotte Wallace, Miss Bertha Youngs, Mrs. Otto Linnert the hostess, Mrs. Taylor and the honor guest, Mrs. Robertson.

A new pencil on the market comes in handy for figuring bridge scores.

BARGAIN RATES FOR OLYMPIC BOAT RACES

Ticket buying for the rowing events of the Olympic Games to be held in the Long Beach Marine stadium has assumed the proportions of a run on a bank, according to reports from the nearby beach city.

Rowing events will take place from August 9 to 13. During those five days, the greatest oarsmen of the nations will compete in history making races.

Bargain admission prices, which enable the purchaser to occupy seats on the grass along the mile-and-a-quarter course, it was said, have caused the family man to frequent the box office in large numbers.

Holders of these tickets, which sell for 50 cents, will be entitled to watch both morning and afternoon rowing events, provided they carry their lunch baskets, picnic style, through the gates of the water stadium. Cloths from the baskets can be spread on the race course banks at noon.

In addition to the places along the banks, grandstands also have been erected, with most of the seats therein selling for $1, although there are a few priced at $2 and $3.

Nearness of Long Beach to this city is expected by Olympic officials to cause the rowing events to be liberally attended by local folk.

SAVANNA, STANTON SCHOOL COSTS CUT

STANTON, July 23.—No one appeared to enter a protest against the proposed budget at the meeting of the trustees of the Savanna and Stanton schools this week.

The expenditures for 1931-32 totaled $20,256.76. The proposed expenditures for 1932-33 total $17,828, a saving of $2,428.76.

Teachers' salaries in 1931-32 were $14,700 and in 1932 and 1933 will total $12,300.

There are eight teachers in the two schools, three in Savanna and five in Stanton.

Aside from the district tax, other sources of income total $1,168, being the state apportionment of $1,320 and county apportionment of $1,848.

RESUBMISSION IS VOTED ON BY TEXAS

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(UP)—Statesmen throughout the country looked to Texas today for a tip on the prohibition sentiment of the plainpeople.

The Texas democratic primary today included a vote on the 18th amendment to resubmitting the 18th amendment to the states for repeal or reaffirmation. Reports here forecast a victory for resubmission.

Senator Sheppard, Dem., Tex., who recently defended his claim to authorship of the 18th amendment, has said that if his state votes to submit the issue again he will follow that course in congress.

Senator Connally, Dem., Tex., tall and witty, has not committed himself. It is generally believed, however, that he would take the hint of a Texas Democratic majority in favor of submission.

HOLLYWOOD GUESSES OVER DIVORCE SUIT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 23.—(UP)—Maurice Chevalier's divorce suit in Paris against Yvonne Vallee, dancing partner of his early and lesser days in France, today had Hollywood guessing as to the future of the singing comedian, whose pictures have made him universally popular with women.

Some Hollywood gossip went so far as to hint a possible growing romance between Marlene Dietrich, beautiful German star, and Chevalier.

Basis for the talk was the fact that they were often seen together recently when both were working on sets at Paramount studio. Also it was pointed out, at a number of fashionable luncheons Chevalier left his table to go to Miss Dietrich's table to chat.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

Senator Borah is playing a cagey inside game.

All his third party hints, dry rebellion threats and St. Lawrence waterways investigation have a direct hidden purpose. He is trying to force Mr. Hoover's hand.

What he really wants even more than prohibition is to drive the President into using the Glass currency inflation section of the Home Loan Mortgage bill. He also wants to direct the administration policy on debts.

If he gets these things in the acceptance speech he will leap back on the Hoover bandwagon and lead the parade.

You would think Borah's private program would lead him into support of the Democratic Presidential ticket. There has been no practicing opponent of debt cancellation and advocate of inflation more prominent than Garner. But Borah did not jump to the Democrats unless the White House spurns him. He does not work that way. He will make statements and speeches advocating his three issues and refuse to endorse any candidate unless the President comes around to his view.

How the White House feels about it is strongly indicated by an authentic story now being told in the inside group.

A political advisor of the President who has a reputation as a wise cracker recently called at the executive mansion. His visit was for the express purpose of asking: "What are we going to do about Borah?"

The answer was: "I am now bridging the chasm so he can crawl back."

The language of the reply would appear to be the invention of the wisecracker. The substance of it may be accepted unquestionably as the hope of the administration.

The Borah investigation of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty is a club which the administration may well fear. It is right down Roosevelt's alley.

The senatorial investigators are going out to look for opposition to the treaty. They will probably start with Chicago where the people think they got hooked on their water diversion limitations.

The committee also will seek some power company stuff. How the investigation is conducted may have an important effect on the campaign. A placated Borah can stamp a lot of Democratic thunder.

Ratification of the treaty is a long way off.

Congress will not receive it until December. There will be little opportunity to adopt it before congress must quit next March 4. The calendar of the session is already overcrowded. A few opponents could easily block it.

From the present indications it appears the Illinois senators, if those of New York, will lend themselves to delaying action.

ACCEPTANCE

Dry's say their heads knowingly now and say: "Mr. Hoover will be all right."

They privately claim to have received assurances from the White House that the acceptance speech will be acceptable to them. The truth is they will be satisfied with very little.

Another factor aside from Borah is pushing the White House toward dry territory. Reports from the South indicate certain Democratic defections are expected as a result of the repeal platform. It is not apparent yet whether these reports are real or imagined, but they are having an effect. Republicans hunger for that territory they considered as lost when Al Smith was blocked.

Best non-partisan information still is that the acceptance speech will fence with the spectre of the saloon which the administration will see in the Democratic platform.

NOTES
The St. Lawrence treaty was concluded in private three days after Gov. Roosevelt telegraphed the President about it. . . . It was announced and signed two days after congress adjourned. . . . That is what you call "timed" developments. . . . Some dry members of congress were hilarious the closing night. . . . One had the whoops, emitting blood-curdling yells at odd moments. . . . Another who was not dry threw his money across the aisle to the Republican side of the chamber. . . . He got most of it back. . . . Borah's radio speech tonight is part of his play. . . . He will make other similar speeches later on the other two topics in his mind. . . . Huey Long will campaign for Senator Hattie Caraway because she was one of the few who were nice to him when he came to the senate. . . . She fooled these Arkansas politicians who were informed "authoritatively" some months ago that she would not be a candidate for re-election. . . . That idea prevailed in Washington and her announcement caused surprise. . . .

NEW YORK

RAILS
The Railway Brotherhoods are discussing a plan to form an investment trust of their own. The idea would be to give railroad employees a chance to buy railroad stocks on the installment plan and thus gain a more important voice in railroad management.

The chances are some such plan will be worked out. Some of the Brotherhood officials have opposed it on the ground that possible receivership would make the stocks worthless in some cases.

Chicago and Eastern Illinois recently worked a neat trick. The road borrowed money from the R. P. C. to pay bond interest. Some of this interest was paid to itself on account of bonds purchased for the sinking fund and kept alive.

Money in the sinking fund was then used to purchase outstanding bonds with a face value of $600,000 for an actual cash expenditure of $76,000. It was a cheap and effective way of reducing fixed charges.

New York hears that I. C. C. approval of the four road consolidation plan will be announced very soon.

"BUNDLE" PLAN

The "Vest Pocket Trust" has started in New York with a retail store on Madison Avenue. Its official slogan is "Buy American." Its official sponsor is Pirnie, Simons & Company—a former investment banking house whose name has been purchased by the real sponsor.

It is offering four portfolios of stocks ranging in price from $125 to $752. The cheapest portfolio is termed "speculative" and well it may be. Out of the 25 companies represented in the list there are at least eight which are facing serious difficulties. The prospect of rapid recovery for most of the others is distinctly remote.

The sponsors are offering to buy back any portfolio within a year at the then current bid price without brokerage charges. The trick is that these brokerage charges are figured into the original excess cost. Salesmen are extremely vague about the cost factor.

The circular quotes Richard Whitney three times. Whitney is one of the most vigorous opponents of the plan.

Pirnie, Simons is suing the Stock Exchange for forbidding its members to do business with them. Exchange authorities fail to get excited about it.

MAGAZINES

The magazine World's Work is about to be taken over by Review of Reviews. The first issue of the new publication will appear in August and will bear the combined titles of the publications. Recently the surviving publication had been offered for sale in the political campaign as forecast as a result of the new financing.

Jackson said he intended taking the marijuana to the county yard where it would be burned. Marijuana prices range from $2 to $2.50 per two and a half ounce can. Marijuana cigarettes sell for 25 cents each. Jackson said growers of the weed generally sell their product for $1 per two and a half ounce can and that the retail price is generally more than doubled.

That a drive against the use of marijuana in Orange county would be started immediately, was intimated by the sheriff today, who promised other arrests before Monday.

BUSINESS WOMEN ARRANGE SESSION

ORANGE, July 23.—Members of the Business and Professional Women's club are to meet Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Sycamores at Tustin. Miss Dorothy Perkins is to be chairman of the evening and a social evening will follow the dinner.

Miss Gertrude Klauer and Miss Ella Klauer are to entertain club members at their summer home at Laguna Beach August 8 and on August 22 the club will meet in the home of Mrs. Christine Lambert.

AERIAL FIRE ENGINES

EDINBURGH, Scotland.—The fire engine of the future, according to Fire Chief Methven, will be an airplane of the helicopter type, capable of vertical ascent. He believes that firemen will soon be climbing down ladders from planes, instead of up ladders from pavements. He has asked the Corporation of Edinburgh to construct a landing field on top of the new fire station.

HEAT WAVE AT END IN MIDWEST TODAY

CHICAGO, July 23.—(UP)—After taking a toll of nearly 275 lives by drowning and prostration, the heat wave which blanketed 20 states virtually was at an end today.

High temperatures continued in a few regions but over most of the area cool winds and rainstorms drove the temperature down from the 100 degree mark where it had remained for nearly two weeks.

In some western states and in central Indiana the heat continued but weather forecasters predicted it would be abated over the week end.

$75,000 FIELD OF MARIJUANA IS DISCOVERED

mile long and 200 yards through. The first 25 rows of corn look like any other corn field, but from there into the center of the patch, the marijuana weed was being grown between the rows.

It had reached a height of almost 4 feet and was just about ready to harvest when its discovery was made. The leaves had begun to turn yellow, the signal needed for harvesting.

Sheriff Logan Jackson, in a statement today, stated that he would scour the entire county looking for more of these fields. He ordered out a number of tractors from the county jail, who in trucks were hauling the weed back to Santa Ana today. One big load arrived early this morning.

Jackson said he intended taking the marijuana to the county yard where it would be burned. Marijuana prices range from $2 to $2.50 per two and a half ounce can. Marijuana cigarettes sell for 25 cents each. Jackson said growers of the weed generally sell their product for $1 per two and a half ounce can and that the retail price is generally more than doubled.

WINTER SPORTS IN PROSPECT FOR THIS SUMMER

Two localities in the national forests now have plenty of new material for winter sports in the summer of 1932, according to reports received by S. B. Snow, regional forester for California. The high country in the Shasta National Forest, which culminates in Mt. Shasta at an elevation of 14,161 feet, and the Palisade Glacier country at the head of Big Pine Creek in the Inyo National Forest are two localities accessible to motorists. The supervisor of the Inyo Forest reports that there are now drifts from 45 to 60 feet deep at Twin Lakes near Mammoth with many buildings entirely buried. There is a possibility, according to the ranger, that some of the trans-Sierra trails will not be free of snow this summer.

employment" by stimulating new building. He said a commerce department survey showed some localities could undertake $500,000, 000 of home construction if financing could be arranged. The home loan plan this will tie in with the new unemployment relief program in which $1,500,000,000 is to be loaned for larger construction projects.

Here is how the new loan system will help small home owners: A system of eight to twelve discount banks will be set up. Their members will be savings banks, building and loan associations, insurance companies and other institutions which loan money on homes.

A man has a mortgage of say $4,000 on an $8,000 home. The mortgage is due but he cannot pay. The building and loan association may say it would like to oblige him but it is hard pressed too. It threatens foreclosure.

Under the new home discount bank system, the building and loan association will be able to take that mortgage to the home loan bank. It will advance up to 60 per cent of the amount of the mortgage, and the building and loan company thus will be able to extend the mortgage instead of foreclosing.

The new system similarly will make funds more easily available for construction of new homes.

President Hoover made clear that the government itself is not going into business. The reconstruction corporation will advance a capital of $125,000,000 to the home loan banks. But all the members of the banks will be required to subscribe stock and will gradually repay this amount.

The funds to be loaned will be raised by the home loan banks as needed by sale of notes and debentures. It is officially estimated the banks will be able to advance $2,000,000,000 within two or three years.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The mass instincts of the age threaten to crush down into obscurity the hopes and aspirations of lonely searchers for certainty that life and love continue after the days on earth have done.

But the deep-seated truth survives and the conviction grows that a loving God could not permit such a spirit as your dear one possessed to pass into oblivion.

You know that your beloved has not ceased to be. You feel not only an influence but a presence. You are sure that the Father's promise will be fulfilled and that you two are to be united again and to serve together in the higher life beyond.

STATE OFFICIAL PLANS TO MAKE INVESTIGATION

War against unscrupulous and unreliable commission dealers in agricultural products who have made away with probably $60,000 from the citrus growers alone in the county, has been declared by the Farm Bureau, according to a statement made today by R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau.

Arrangements have been made by the local Farm Bureau to have C. J. Carey, chief of the bureau of enforcement of the state department of agriculture, in Orange county for one day when he will hear complaints from growers and make investigations. The day set for his visit here is next Thursday at 2 p. m. when Carey will be at the Farm Bureau offices in the courthouse annex.

Many complaints have come into the Farm Bureau regarding money lost by growers who entrusted their products in the hands of certain commission merchants and packing houses that sell fruit on commission for the growers. One citrus grower alone who has a ranch in the northern part of the county has collected but $3000 out of a $7000 crop, Flaherty said.

The Farm Bureau urges all farmers not to sell any produce to any peddlers unless they show their state licenses, which proves that they are bonded up to $5000 if they sell on commissions. Flaherty warned farmers not to accept checks but to demand cash when they sell their goods.

The commission merchants have been working among the smaller growers as well as the citrus growers, Flaherty declared, and many of them have not received money due them for their products.

FOUR FINED ON SPEEDING COUNTS

Four men and one woman were in the Santa Ana police court yesterday to answer to speeding charges, these being among the first to be arrested in the recently announced drive against unlawful drivers.

The four men were fined. The woman was given a suspended sentence.

The cases were: George R. Davis, Anaheim, $10; Walter Weimer, Orange, $10; Heinrich Van Dam, El Monte, $10; DeWitt Hill, Fullerton, $5; Margaret Bushard, five days, suspended.

Charged with parking between two and five a. m., Ellen M. Koub, Santa Ana was fined $1.

STELLA GROFF HURT IN IDYLLWILD FALL

Suffering from several broken ribs, painful back bruises and possible internal injuries, Miss Stella Groff, 508 West Eighth street, was removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital today from Idyllwild where she was hurt in a fall last Wednesday night.

Miss Groff, well known in Santa Ana church circles, was a niece of the late Judge Z. B. West.

The accident occurred when Miss Groff slipped and fell backwards in the shower room of the house in which she was vacationing. Her right side struck a large cement block.

Miss Groff may be removed to her residence Monday. She probably will be confined several weeks.

$2370 JUDGMENT GRANTED DEMETRE

Judgment was granted to John Demetre against Donald Calkins by Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon for injuries sustained in an automobile accident that happened in San Clemente on August 30, 1931.

John and Anna Demetre were joint plaintiffs in a suit against Calkins and D. R. Holloway. Holloway was the owner of the car driven by Calkins which collided with the car driven by John Demetre. Anna Demetre injured her back, leg and knee in the accident. The plaintiffs asked $7500 personal injury damages and $700 special damages for medical and car expenses.

Arrested On Bad Check Complaint

Carl James Clements, 28, laborer, of 1103 East First street, was arrested at the Vandernast, Inc., store on West Fourth street at 4:30 p. m. yesterday when he is alleged to have attempted to pass a worthless check.

The check was made out to O. L. Davis and was signed "H. L. Nard." It was on the First National Bank of Santa Ana and was for $15.50.

After his arrest, another check for $11.50 was found on his person. Police said both were fictitious. Clements was lodged in the county jail by Sergeants V. Adams and Charles Wolf of the police department.

FAMOUS HUMORIST AND PHILOSOPHER SECURED FOR S. A. ENGAGEMENT

Dr. Alexandre Cairns, renowned orator, humorist, columnist and philosopher, will speak on the subject, "The Man Worth While" at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church next Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock.

The meeting here is to be held under the auspices of the Knights of the Round Table. Dr. Cairns spoke yesterday at the Lions club convention in Los Angeles where he scored a big hit at a huge gathering.

The speaker is a specialist in light hearted, intriguing after-dinner speaking for which he is in constant and universal demand. One great orator has said of him, "he has the dignity of Bryan, the eloquence of Ingersoll and the pep of Billy Sunday." In the census of human service Dr. Cairns is listed as a teacher, clergyman, chautauqua lecturer, columnist, poet, recitalist and traveler.

PRESBYTERIANS OBJECTING TO WET PLATFORM

Strong feeling against the "dripping wet" platform of the Democratic party was expressed at the meetings of the California Presbyterian synod, in session in San Diego, according to the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the Santa Ana Presbyterian church, who has been attending sessions.

The moral welfare committee recommended that the synod "urge upon its entire constituency a vigorous resistance to all proposals to repeal the eighteenth amendment," and suggested that neither Republicans nor Democratic party candidates for the presidency, congress or state offices be supported because of the resumption and repeal plank written into their respective national platforms.

Will Make Try At Breaking Record For 'Chute Jumps

Troy L. Colback who has been parachute jumping for the last two years in California and Florida will endeavor to break the world's record for parachute jumping endurance, at Santa Ana Airways, 2600 West First street tomorrow.

Herb Strak who now holds the record with nine jumps, in one day, declared he will endeavor to better Colback's mark provided he succeeds in breaking the present record.

Colback states that he can make 15 jumps in one day, and to make the record official there is to be a representative of the National Aeronautical association at the airport to witness the jumping.

Fox Movietone News and Paramount News Reel are to be present and make pictures of the record breaking jump, which should take place about noon.

TWO BOYS HELD FOR AUTO THEFT

Two boys, one 11, the other 12, are being held in custody by police officers for stealing an automobile at Newport Beach Sunday night.

The boys were taken into custody yesterday afternoon when a police officer answered a call to the south end of the city where it was reported that two small boys were racing an automobile.

The car was the property of Vernon Orr, of Balboa, who reported it stolen last Sunday.

Police reported they had arrested the same youths before on charges of bicycle stealing.

P. E. CAR CREW EXONERATED AT DEATH INQUEST

Exonerating the crew of the Pacific Electric car which struck and killed Mrs. Eloise Wilson, 43, and Jap P. Bassett, both of Long Beach, near Sunset Beach at 12:55 a. m. Thursday, a verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury at a joint inquest at the Dixon Funeral parlors in Huntington Beach today.

Motorman Lee Marshall testified that he saw what appeared to be a sack or box on the tracks, visibility being poor because of the fog. The car was stopped and the tragedy discovered, Mrs. Wilson having been killed instantly and Bassett dying in a Long Beach hospital several hours later.

A bottle partially filled with whiskey was found near the scene, it was brought out at the inquest.

While Bassett died in Los Angeles county, the findings at today's inquest will be accepted by Coroner Nance of that county, it is said.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wilson, who was the mother of four children, will be held from the Dixon parlors Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the First Christian church officiating.

The body of Bassett is at a Long Beach Funeral parlors. He is survived by his widow and three children.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Earl Abbey and Deputy J. B. Casteln.

A new TYPE and KIND of Automobile

Two brothers named Wright flew a power-kite off the bleak sands of Kitty Hawk, and gave to the world the airplane. Genius and daring, seeking new thrills, added hulls and keels to winged motors—and gave us hydroplane. Today, the earthbound automobile takes on phantom wings—and you have the TERRAPLANE!

Not only a new model but a new kind of automobile, it springs full-powered from the independent, daring, Hudson-Exess engineering that has contributed more than 60 "first's" to automotive progress.

Because it skims the roadways of old terra firma with a fresh, smooth, soaring action, akin to flight, Amelia Earhart christened it the TERRAPLANE.

Its new engineering principle is pneumounted power—power set free—with the highest ratio of power to weight ever achieved in a production car here or abroad. Its unit body-and-chassis construction is the first achievement of complete structural entity in any car.

In performance it out-starts, out-climbs, out-runs, out-curves and out-stays cars three times its weight and ten times its price.

FIRST AID FOR CHAIRMEN IN NEW BOOKLET

A book designed to help the man or woman unexpectedly called to chairmanship of a committee or an organization will be issued within the next few days in Santa Ana. It is the work of E. C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., and well known enthusiast on the subject of public speaking.

"The Amateur Chairman" is the title of the book, which is designated as "first aid to the unprepared president," and which takes up in simple, non-technical manner, the problems of the person who is charged with the conduct of meetings.

"Many books have been written about public speaking and no small amount has been published on parliamentary law and the technical elements of chairmanship," says the author in his introduction, "but there appears to be a dearth of material presenting in a simple, non-technical manner the ordinary business of presiding and the commonplace problems of the president. That is why this book is offered. So many perturbed presidents-elect have come to me for aid that I am convinced that a need exists for this simple and elementary manual."

Four Divisions
The business of presiding is treated under four heads. First, there is the "President as Pilot" chapter, in which the presidential duties are likened to those of the pilot of a boat, who must know where he is going, the route to be followed, and the time for arrival. This section takes up in some detail the handling of the "order of business" as it must be faced by every chairman. "The President as a Referee" is the second section of the book. This covers the simpler essentials of parliamentary practice, and discusses the proper methods of carrying on the business of a meeting, but presents very few of the technicalities of the parliamentary manual on parliamentary practice.

Under the heading, "The President as a Toastmaster," the social duties are introduced, and the conduct of the toastmaster as he presides over a program are given in very practical detail. Matters of program arrangement, timing of program features, balancing of material as to speeches, music and entertainment, introductions of speakers, and other commonplace items are given careful attention.

"The President as a Pinch Hitter" is the fourth and last chapter. It deals with the duties of the chairman in the event of an emergency. The book is a booklet of 16 pages, and is available for sale at 10 cents a copy. It is sold by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., 706 North Main, Santa Ana, California. Phone 960.

ISSUES BOOK

Ralph Smedley, below, founder of the Toastmasters' club and well known public speaking coach, who is secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., has prepared a book of instructions and hints for use of persons chosen to act as chairmen of a group or organization which will be issued soon.

ter" deals with the problems of the chairman who finds his program collapsed at the last minute, and is full of suggestions as to what may be done in such a case. The concluding chapter presents a brief outline of the elements of public speaking, intended to help the inexperienced chairman to make his necessary remarks as painless as possible, both to himself and his audience.

Based on Experience

The entire work has been based on the many years of experience of the author as a teacher and coach of public speakers, and has been written with a careful view to meeting the needs of the ordinary citizen who needs emergency help in meeting the problem of how to conduct the affairs of any assembly over which he may be called to preside.

Smedley is generally known as the founder and promoter of the Toastmasters' club, that steadily growing organization of business and professional men, whose motto is "more speeches, better speeches, shorter speeches." He has for a number of years been conducting classes in public speaking at the local Y. M. C. A., and he numbers among his former pupils many of the most popular speakers in this community.

During the past year he has had nearly 100 men and women enrolled under his instruction, most of whom have achieved a satisfactory degree of success in their efforts to make speeches.

Plans are already under way for the fall term of public speaking work which will open at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. in September, and which will include much of the material presented in the new book on "The Amateur Chairman."

Literature Of Old Testament To Be Discussed at Y. M.

Persons interested in the literary and historical backgrounds of the Old Testament will welcome the announcement from the W. M. C. A. that Dr. Thomas S. Blair, well known local Bible teacher, is to give a lecture on Tuesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. lobby on "The Ancient Wisdom Literature, Including Proverbs and Psalms." Dr. Blair has recently made some careful studies of the books of "wisdom literature" in the Bible, and he will present the results of his studies in one lecture to be given on next Tuesday, and a second lecture, dated for Tuesday, August 2, in which he will discuss the books of Job, Ecclesiastes and others.

All who care to enjoy a lecture on Tuesday evening are invited to attend the session at 7:30 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. lobby. Dr. Blair will not undertake to give any devotional interpretation of the material studied, but will present the best information available as to the literary and historical surroundings and the authorship of the books.

JAIL PRISON TERMS GIVE IN CHECK WRITERS

H. L. Fairbanks, alleged check artist who was arrested in Anaheim on charges of issuing fictitious checks, was sent to San Quentin for from one to 14 years by Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday when judgment was pronounced.

The case of H. O'Donnell, Anaheim man who was charged with issuing a fictitious check in Anaheim, came before Judge Allen this morning for a probation hearing and the prisoner was granted three years probation on the charge with the provision that he spend a year in the county jail.

Fairbanks was refused a plea for probation on the grounds that he had served time in the state penitentiary in Washington on a charge of grand larceny after taking an automobile from the state without permission of the owners.

The case of Robert Meadows, who is charged with committing a statutory offense against a nine-year-old girl on June 11, was set for August 16 at 10 a. m. after he had pleaded not guilty to the charge at the arraignment this morning.

J. Medina, Mexican who told officers that in Mexico, if a man didn't like another man he made him dig a hole and then put him in it, after he had fired at Antonio Rodriguez and F. Perez in Del Norte recently, was in court this morning to answer to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. He was also charged with possession of firearms by a foreigner, a felony. The case was continued until this afternoon.

The case of Arthur Kelley, Anaheim man who was arrested by fruit patrol officers and who is charged with burglary in the connection with the theft of 25 chickens from R. G. Sutton's ranch at Newport road and La Caringa drive, was continued until July 25 at 10 a. m.

The case of C. A. Steel, charged with issuing false checks, was continued until Monday.

Horace H. Lewis, alleged bookmaker who was arrested by Santa Ana officers in a raid, will hear his fate when Judge Scovel hears his plea for probation next Friday.

The case was set for yesterday but was continued.

Volume On Goethe To Be Reviewed

The subject of the Book Review Hour from KREB at 10:30 a. m. Monday, is "Goethe, Man and Poet," by Henry W. Nevins, and it was announced today by Mary Burke King, who is in charge of this popular radio feature.

This volume was written for the centenary of Goethe's death on March 22, 1932. "Carlyle wrote that the time to appreciate Goethe would be a century hence," said the reviewer in discussing the volume. "If that be true, those living at this time and studying Goethe are in that fortunate era which Carlyle foretold."

Faces Court On Wage Law Charge

Paul Baxter, of 421 East Ocean Park avenue, Santa Monica, pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of violation of the state wage law, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

He was free on bail of $500 and his hearing was set for August 2, at 9 a. m.

The complaining witness in the case is Earl Rice of Santa Ana.

Don Gridley To Give Concert In Long Beach Friday

A concert engagement in Long Beach auditorium Friday night, July 29, by Dan Gridley, well known concert tenor, is expected to draw many Santa Ana music lovers.

Appearing under the auspices of the Long Beach Musical Arts club, the artist has promised a program of operatic and classical numbers. Dan Gridley is a native of Los Angeles, and received his early musical training there. After gaining the reputation of being one of the most admired tenors on the Pacific coast he went to New York some five years ago, gaining attention in song programs and choral work until he was chosen for the tenor soloist in the New York Philharmonic Symphony's rendering of Kodaly's "Tasmanus Hungaricus."

Following this success he had eight additional engagements with the Philharmonic in performance of "La Giara" (Casella) directed by Molinari in Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore and Brooklyn, as well as in New York City. In succeeding years he has sung with symphony orchestras in all the principal cities of the east, gaining praise from critics generally. His concert in Long Beach will begin at 8 o'clock next Friday night. His engagement is of special interest to Maurice Phillips of Santa Ana, a long personal friend of the tenor.

DISMISS CITY AND C. OF C. IN DAMAGE ACTION

A demurrer to a complaint filed against the city of Anaheim and the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce in the case of Jennie Shewbert versus the two organizations and E. D. Griggs was approved by Judge James L. Allen in superior court yesterday afternoon.

Granting of the demurrer leaves Griggs the only defendant in the suit which was started after Jennie Shewbert had been injured when Griggs, a cowboy in the annual Halloween celebration parade in Anaheim last October 30, threw a lasso around her body and pulled her down the street in a gutter.

Griggs is alleged to have thrown the rope into the crowd on Los Angeles street in Anaheim and of dragging Jennie Shewbert down the gutter of the street until her body struck a truck and knocked her unconscious. She claimed to have suffered serious bruises and lacerations when she struck the truck.

The plaintiff is asking $7500 damages and her husband, John Shewbert, is asking $5000 damages.

AVOCADO GROWERS OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Grower service committees of Orange county's two districts are taking the field to enlist as neighbor avocado grower, with small or large production who is not already a participant in the national marketing program of the California growers, and one of the most gratifying sign-ups ever recorded is predicted by Earl C. Dutton, Yorba Linda, field manager of the Calavo Growers association, here today.

The surprisingly large total of about 200 acres of avocados has already been enlisted in the growers' group in the first several weeks of the new grower sign-up period, adding some 53 new growers to the 574 other growers in this and other districts who have become participants since July of last year. The phenomenal increase in the number of growers finding cooperative marketing the most consistent for highest returns, boosting the exchange's total membership from 841 growers two years ago this month to 1735 today, also indicates the rapidity with which new acreage is now coming into bearing.

Plans Addresses At Roof Garden

Judge M. P. Summers, former public prosecutor and founder of the court of general sessions, of St. Louis, Mo., will give two free public lectures at the roof garden of the Bungalow apartments, Third and Sycamore streets next week. These addresses will be on Wednesday, July 27, when his subject will be "Slick Business and the Remedy," and Friday, July 29, when the subject will be "Brighter Days Around the Corner."

Judge Summers who plans to organize a class in public speaking, is president of the Anti-Narcotic League of America, and was active for the Anti-Saloon League in the state in 1916 when he spoke in Santa Ana. He is scheduled to address several luncheon clubs next week.

Construction Of New Home Started

Construction of a frame and stucco residence and garage at 2027 South Sycamore street, is being started by C. A. Bailford, of 2015 Hickory street, it was revealed today at the office of the city building inspector. A permit taken out for the new home shows that it is to be built by R. Frazier, contractor, at a cost of $2500.

COAST OMITTED NEW ESSEX SIX FROM ROUTING BULLET ALONG OF N. E. A. RRP AIRPLANE LINES

Members of the National Editorial association, now in convention in Los Angeles will make a tour of Orange county next Wednesday, when their special train will be met by automobiles at Fullerton. Drivers have been asked by the committee in charge to be at the Fullerton station not later than 8:50 a. m. to meet the visiting editors.

A change in plans was announced today by V. D. Johnson, of Orange, chairman of the committee, which will eliminate the proposed trip down the coast line from Huntington Beach to Newport Beach. After a drive through some parts of the county the guests will reach Irvine park at 11:30 a. m., where lunch will be served. At 1 p. m. they will leave for Orange where they will be shown through an orange packing plant.

Leaving Orange at 3 p. m., they are scheduled to arrive at San Juan Capistrano at 2:40 for a tour of the old mission. At 3:40 o'clock they start for San Diego, going on to Agua Caliente, Mexico, for dinner, overnight and breakfast. The committee decided that since it would be impracticable to take the 100 cars down the coast or even on the heights at Corona del Mar, it would be better not to thus consume time that would be required for the trip, Johnson announced.

Instead, the visitors will be taken to one of the hills north of Fullerton for a view from that point and to the top of Lemon Heights, where a panoramic view of the whole southern end of the county is spread before their eyes. Justice Cramer, Orange, publisher, who is vice president of the N. E. A., is expected to be elected president at the election in Los Angeles Monday.

FIVE DECREES GRANTED THAT END MARRIAGES

"Take the decree," Judge James L. Allen said five times in superior court yesterday afternoon and five times bonds of matrimony were severed.

Geneva Plena objected to working from 4 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock every night in the fields of her husband's farm and so she brought suit for divorce against E. D. Griggs, according to the complaint filed.

She charged that her husband made her work in the fields, pulling stumps, clearing land and performing other manual labor under threat. She said he used violent, profane language to her and she worked from dawn 'till dark every day including Sundays. During the time they were married from December, 1930, to May of 1931, her husband bought her two pairs of overalls, a pair of men's shoes and a man's work shirt, in the way of clothes. She had little to eat and at one time her husband gave her nothing to eat for four days, she charged.

Gabriella M. Alhadeff, daughter of A. Travallini who is proprietor of Cafe Laguna, was granted a divorce from Victor M. Alhadeff. The complaint charged cruelty and non-support. The plaintiff was awarded custody of a minor child and $30 a month for its support. Harry Marks was successful in securing an annulment of his marriage to his wife, Mary Marks. He told the court that he had been married at the time of his marriage to his wife from whom he was just separated.

Pretty Lucilla Thomson Roby of Anaheim, was given a divorce from her husband, Louie Everett Roby on the grounds that he had failed to provide for her and was inclined to dissipate. A request that her maiden name of Lucilla Thomson be restored her by court order was denied. Judge Allen explained that the court had no authority to authorize a legal change of name.

On the charge that her husband failed to provide for her, Edith Ziegler was given legal separation from her husband, H. J. Ziegler, and was awarded custody of a minor son.

Boys and Dads Enjoy Program Of Magic At Y

Fun was the order of the evening at last night's session of the "Friday Fun club" at the Y. M. C. A., when about 100 boys and fathers came together for their regular Friday night frolic. The principal program feature was a clever exhibition of sleight of hand by Don O. Rice, assisted by Bob, who mystified the boys by their magic tricks. Games, races and other lively events added to the fun.

Next Friday evening, Harry W. Lewis will talk on "Boys of Latin America," using pictures to illustrate the information he has to give. That boys are at liberty to bring their fathers with them to these Friday evening entertainments was stressed by Boys' Secretary D. H. Tibbals, who stated that one of the purposes is to help both boys and men to get a better understanding of what the Y is trying to do for the young folks. The series will continue throughout the month of August, with a program each Friday evening.

DETROIT, MICH., July 23.—(Special)—Introduction by the Hudson Motor Car Co. of a new Essex line presenting a new kind and type of automobile which for the first time is said to incorporate principles of airplane construction in automobiles and which will sell in the very lowest price class will be celebrated with gala day ceremonies here tomorrow when Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly the Atlantic alone, will christen with airplane gasoline the first car off the production line.

Not in years has Detroit, long called to automobile activities, prepared to participate so wholeheartedly in the presentation of a new automobile. Governor Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan, Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, leading manufacturers in the automobile industry, two thousand Hudson-Essex distributors and dealers from every section of the United States and Canada and thousands of residents of the city of Detroit will participate.

Not only will tomorrow's ceremonies introduce a new kind and type of automobile, but they will signalize the recent return to work benches in the Hudson Motor Car company's factory of additional thousands of workers.

DAMAGE SUITS ASK JUDGMENT FOR $67,200

Two personal damage suits which have been filed in superior court ask a total of $67,200 for death or injury resulting from auto accidents.

Charging wrongful death of Domingo Madrigal in an automobile accident which occurred when cars driven by Madrigal and Walter E. Gackley crashed on May 31 near Talbert, the widow, Mrs. Antonio Madrigal and two minor children, Seforosa and Mary, have filed suit against Gackley through their guardian, John K. Caldwell.

Each plaintiff is demanding $10,000 for the death of the husband and father, and the wife is asking an additional $200 for funeral expenses, making a total of $30,200 asked.

David Drake filed a damage suit against D. Bates asking a total of $37,000 damages for injuries, medical expenses and loss of wages. Drake suffered a broken ankle and other injuries when he was struck down by a car driven by Bates last Saturday night on West Fifth street. Bates claimed, in a report filed with state police, that Drake stepped in front of his car after he had been blinded by the lights from another car which was approaching.

"The stamina, economy and endurance of the Ford V-8 was strikingly demonstrated recently when Eddie Pullen, famous racing driver, and his crew drove a Ford V-8 33,301 miles in 33 days, 4 hours, 35 minutes—the equivalent of three years' normal driving in one month. The run was made near Rosamond, California, in the Mojave Desert, and lasted from June 6 to July 9," according to George Dunton, Santa Ana Ford dealer.

"Results of this unique test designed to test the performance of the Ford V-8 under harder than average driving conditions showed that the car averaged 41.3 miles per hour throughout the entire distance."

"It averaged 19.4 miles per gallon of gasoline and consumed only 11.2 pints of oil per thousand miles. The first set of 4 tires averaged 27,525 miles each though they still had some mileage left in them at the time of replacement. Pennzoil motor oils and lubricants were used exclusively and every working part, Pennzoil protected, came through without a single repair. The results turned in by the Ford V-8 prove the importance of following factory specified lubrication recommendations with high quality products."

"Three regular drivers covered the major portion of the mileage but over 150 interested spectators piloted the car for nearly 5000 miles. A 32-mile course was used and during the run the car was driven over 12,131 miles of pavement, 17,490 miles of oiled road, and 3630 miles of rough dirt road."

"The Ford V-8 was driven at the rate of 1000 miles per day for the entire distance—one and a third times 'round the world. For days the desert temperature soared to 110, 112 and even 114 degrees. This intense heat combined with desert winds and sand, and the steady grind at high average speed, to make a stiff test for both car and crew."

"Throughout, the run was under the observation of Los Angeles newspaper representatives and the timing was officially checked by Western Union."

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

STUDEBAKER MODELS BOTH OPEN, CLOSED

Paradoxical as it may sound, Studebaker's new convertible body types permit the modern motorist to "eat his cake and have it too." The growing popularity of these models arises from the fact they offer all the enjoyment of an open car or the cozy comfort of an enclosed car, at will, according to George Johnson, Studebaker dealer here.

In the early days of motoring, nearly all cars were open cars. While it was unquestionably an exhilarating thrill to sweep through a sunny countryside in the open, even the hardest motorist found the experience a questionable pleasure in bad weather. The public consequently chose to forego its enjoyment of open-air motoring for the warm protection of the closed body type.

"There was a definite swing away from the open car, the extent of which is best indicated by the fact that while in 1919, only 10.3 per cent of all cars produced in the United States and Canada were closed models, this figure had jumped to 90.3 per cent in 1930, leaving a mere 9.7 per cent for the open car."

"Last year, however, Studebaker brought out a convertible all-weather roadster which, by combining the advantages of both body types, providing in equal measure the racy thrill of the open car and the weather-proof protection of the closed. Slushy rains to the top, replaced the conventional flapping side curtains—the President Eight, designed to make its raising or lowering exceptionally easy."

"This body type was so well accepted, that it was determined to apply the same design to the larger sedan models. Now both a sedan and a roadster are offered by Studebaker in each of its four lines—the President Eight, the Commander Eight, the Dictator Eight, and the Studebaker Six. A special State or Regal model with extra equipment, is also provided for each body type on all wheelbases."

DELIVERANCE AT THE RED SEA

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The study of the lessons of this quarter, drawn from the early political and religious history of the Jewish people, will inevitably quicken in some minds the question, Did all these things actually happen?

For many the answer to such a question is found in their view of the Bible, which they regard as a verbally inspired book in which every detail is authenticated by the very fact of its appearance in the record.

For others the matter is not so simple. They see in the Bible not only a book, but a book of many books, coming to us through a long and rather difficult historical process in which many conflicting views and judgments have participated.

The inspiration of the Bible, they find, in its distinctive general teaching and in its guidance for life rather than in any mechanical conception of its accuracy of detail in every particular, or perhaps one should say the historicity of every detail.

In the early history of England we have such stories as that of King Canute putting his chair on the seashore and bidding the incoming tide recede. The purpose and effect of that story, and its valuable lesson, are, of course, quite apparent, and have nothing to do with the question whether Canute did actually put his chair upon the shore or not.

In the same way the teachings of the Bible depend only in a very secondary way upon critical questions and the attitude that one assumes toward them.

In these comments on the Sunday School lessons it is neither possible, nor desirable, to enter into these critical questions. Our quest and our emphasis are upon spiritual teaching.

Here, for instance, in this story of the passing of the children of Israel through the Red Sea, and the destruction by the returning waters of the pursuing hosts of Egypt, we have a great drama that lays hold of the soul as well as of the artistic mind.

It is an epic of deliverance, full of meaning and of inspiration for people to whom the Red Sea represents a barrier, but also a gateway to the Promised Land which they are enabled to conquer through Divine Providence.

The experience is one that is not limited to the history of Israel. There are those even in our modern days of distress and trouble who are finding the experience real, and it is this that gives us hope that society itself may pass through the waters of depression to the promised land of safety and deliverance.

HERE, FOR INSTANCE, IN THIS STORY OF THE PASSING OF THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL THROUGH THE RED SEA WE HAVE A GREAT DRAMA THAT LAYS HOLD OF THE SOUL.

day School lessons it is neither possible, nor desirable, to enter into these critical questions. Our quest and our emphasis are upon spiritual teaching.

Here, for instance, in this story of the passing of the children of Israel through the Red Sea, and the destruction by the returning waters of the pursuing hosts of Egypt, we have a great drama that lays hold of the soul as well as of the artistic mind.

It is an epic of deliverance, full of meaning and of inspiration for people to whom the Red Sea represents a barrier, but also a gateway to the Promised Land which they are enabled to conquer through Divine Providence.

The experience is one that is not limited to the history of Israel. There are those even in our modern days of distress and trouble who are finding the experience real, and it is this that gives us hope that society itself may pass through the waters of depression to the promised land of safety and deliverance.

SYNOD LEADER OF IOWA UNION MEET SPEAKER

The union service of the Santa Ana churches will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the First Evangelical church, corner of Tenth and Main streets, with the Rev. E. F. Kimmelschue, of Des Moines, Iowa, as preacher.

Dr. Kimmelschue is supplying the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church during this month. He has announced as his sermon theme, "Making a Living or Making a Life."

The church choir, directed by George Watson, will provide the music, with Mrs. Melba Wood at the organ.

Dr. Kimmelschue, who is synodical superintendent of missions of the Iowa conference, is not a stranger in Santa Ana as he preached for seven months at the United Presbyterian church here in 1904 during an absence of the regular pastor.

The union services this year have been attracting large congregations, according to officials of the Ministerial association which is sponsoring the union evening services during the summer.

THE FIRST COMMANDMENT

Text: Exodus 20:3—"Thou shalt have no other gods before me".

Were this commandment to be phrased today, it might read: "Thou shalt have at least one God". Our danger apparently lies not in worshipping too many deities, but in worshipping none at all. There are numbers of men and women who seem to look up to nothing. Instead of praying, they plan; instead of aspiring to a perfection on high, they cherish their own ideals; instead of trusting with childlike dependence to a Power outside themselves, they resolutely push their own way; instead of opening their spirits to intercourse with Another, they think hard; instead of casting their burden upon Him, they throw it over their shoulders. In brilliant essay, Bossuet, as seeking "something that may awaken in the human heart that terrible thought of seeing nothing above itself." The difficulty with many people is not in finding some rock that is higher than they, to which to lead them; but to induce them to raise their eyes to any point on the rock loftier than themselves. Certain minds have a fatal faculty for reducing everything and everyone to their own level. They are incapable of seeing in men vastly better than themselves the virtues in which these excel them; but they quickly detect the faults akin to their own. Firm in their complacency, they look out on the world with eyes slightly downcast, prepared to find all objects in their field of vision beneath them. And whatever is above remains out of their sight. The only hope for them is that some circumstance will lay them flat on their backs in utter helplessness, and compel them to look up; then, perhaps, a new world will swim within their ken, the world of things high and lofty, the mountain tops and the stars and the overarching sky—the age old symbols of God.

Most men are fortunately not quite so self-assured and self-satisfied. They look out and up; and awesome sights greet their eyes. "There are moments," says Victor Hugo, "when, whatever the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees." Truth commands their loyalty; justice enlists their conscience, beauty captivates their spirits; love masters their hearts. They discover what it is to surrender themselves to the lordship of something they cannot but obey. In that experience, whether or not they call the object of their devotion "God", religion is born.

"What means it," asked Martin Luther, "to have a God?" and replies, "Whatever thy heart clings to and relies upon, that is properly thy God."

Many of us for instance, have one god for the heart and another for the marketplace. We confide our homes to love. We trust wife or husband utterly, because love binds them to us. We expect parents and children to fulfill their duties to one another, to hold fast to each other through all the years their lives are spared, because their household deity, affection, can be depended on. And we worship the domestic god with appropriate rites. He has his sacraments of the kiss and the remembered personal festivals. He has his ten commandments, ten reduced to one, for love is the fulfilling of his law. And he possesses our whole-hearted allegiance; what love cannot do with wife or husband, nothing else can accomplish; when love fails with children or with parents, there is naught stronger or wiser to fall back upon. And love proves itself trustworthy, it seeks not its own, is not provoked, taketh not account of evil, beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things, and never faileth.

But when we close the doors of our home and go out into the world of business, we seem to have passed into a realm where some other divinity bears sway. Instead of looking with trust at those with whom we trade, we eye them sharply. Instead of depending upon mutual affection to keep us and those with whom we have dealings faithful to our obligations, we rely on self interest. Men will do business with us and we with them, so long as it is profitable, and no longer. The tie which unites lives in this sphere is selfish so long as men's interests lie in the same direction, they pull together; the instant their interests clash, they pull apart. And this god of the marketplace, too, has appropriate rites. His revered high priests are the financially powerful; his sacraments are business contracts, enforceable by strong hand of law; his ten commandments are the so-called "rules of the game" and they rest upon the assumption that every man is for himself first, last and always. The god of the heart is love; the god of the marketplace is self-interest. Family is family, business is business; and the ancient polytheism is with us still.

Or again, the god of some group or class often does not seem to them to be the god of some other group. A nation going to war asserts that its god and the god of its fathers will assure victory, as though its enemies and their fathers were under the protection of some lesser deity. A group of wealthy people will speak of the god who sanctions the ownership of property, and solemnly warns "Thou shalt not steal," when radical legislation threatens to take something from them, or strikers, offer violence to their belongings; but they apparently think that some other deity sanctions the right of the laborer to his job and to a living wage. On the other hand a group of working men will insist that the god of justice and of the future approves of their violent methods of obtaining their demands; and speak as if all his sympathy and tenderness were with them, while the capitalists against whom they are striving are under some outworn pagan god of property—a god of the past. The baneful result of many gods is to rob life of its unity.

When God makes His own divine impression upon us in Jesus Christ, we experience such a perfect and complete abasement—our minds mastered by One who grips them as the final Truth, our consciences held by One who is to them their ideal of Right, our admiration called out by One who seems the altogether Lovely, our hearts kindled by One who sets them all aflame with love, our whole self goes out in such response to Him, that we have nothing left to give to another.

We cannot serve Christ with a fraction of ourselves; it requires as much as is in us to obey Him; and when He answers our obedience with His leadership, He fills our every need and more. If Martin Luther is correct: "that to have a God means to have something in which the heart puts all its trust," Jesus of Nazareth has the power to capture our entire trust, and be the God who has us. We give Him our adoration, our confidence, our loyalty, and not a part, but the whole of our soul's devotion.

SPRINGDALE

SPRINGDALE, July 23—Charles Wentzel, who has been off duty from the Long Beach Country club for some weeks due to burns on his hands, the result of an explosion of gasoline at the club, has returned to his duties.

Mrs. Z. Crane spent Sunday in Long Beach visiting her mother, Mrs. Talbert. Mrs. Z. Crane joined a family party Tuesday at the Santa Ana home of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Irwin, who entertained in faraway for an aunt, Mrs. Eastin, of San Francisco, who has been called to her home, cutting her visit short on account of the arrival of relatives of her husband from the east. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Piper, and a niece, Mrs. Zella Thompson, completed the party at the Irwin home.

Mrs. Florence Graham and son and daughter are at Puente, where they were accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Graham. They are guests of cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gray. Mrs. Ethel Lloyns and daughter accompanied Mrs. J. J. Graham home to remain for several days and Mr. Lloyns joined them here overnight and they returned home with him.

Springdale trustees had their budget meeting Monday afternoon but there was no business to be transacted. Local trustees are John Kettler, Charles Houser and Charles Graham.

In courtesy to Mrs. G. M. Roberson, who recently celebrated a birthday anniversary, Mrs. Agnes Gothard was hostess at an afternoon party at her ranch home at which a group of Mrs. Roberson's friends were the invited guests. The party was a complete surprise to the honor guest, whom the group presented a lovely array of towels as their gift to her. Refreshments, which included ice cream, cakes and cookies, were served at the close of the pleasant social afternoon.

Present at the party were the honor guest, Mrs. Roberson; Mrs. McCluskey, Mrs. W. A. Matson, Mrs. J. R. Gary, Mrs. Lee Wentzel, Mrs. C. E. Pratt, Mrs. Elsie Laubaugh, Mrs. E. Ray Moore, Mrs. L. S. Moore, Mrs. E. M. Fox, Mrs. Albert Ruoff, Mrs. Charles Graham, Mrs. George Crane, Mrs. Sherman Buck, Mrs. L. E. Barry, Mrs. Emil Kettler, Mrs. Raymond Beer, and the hostess, Mrs. Gothard.

A group of several local women joined relatives at Point Fermin park one day for a picnic lunch. They were Mrs. J. J. Graham and two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Florence Graham and Mrs. Anna Graham. They went first to the home of Mrs. Graham's other daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mabel Graham, at San Pedro and were joined there by Mrs. Graham and her daughter, Edna Myrth Graham, and her sister, Miss Cleo Ulrich, of Wintersburg, who was her house guest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kettler and daughter, Miss Mary Kettler, spent the week end at their cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

Mrs. Ola Graham, a sister-in-law of J. J. Graham, came Tuesday to the Graham home, coming here from Huntington Beach, where she had been the guest of Mrs. Henry Talbert. Riley Graham, of Long Beach, was an evening visitor in his parents' home from Long Beach, while Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Bader and family, of Wilmington, also called.

Richard Nankervis, father of Mrs. Charles Houser came this week to remain for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Houser. He has been with a daughter in Santa Ana.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, July 23—Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hanson and daughter, Barbara, of Pasadena spent Friday at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adland. The Misses Cordelia and Thueselda Ferber, of Chicago, are guests in the home of their uncle, Fred Soest, and family. They are teachers in the Lutheran schools in Chicago and came to attend a convention in Los Angeles next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McLeod attended a barbecue dinner Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swartz in Long Beach.

Mrs. J. A. Ferguson and daughter, Irene, of Hanford, arrived Thursday to spend several days in the L. H. Burr home.

Miss Jennie Hedstrom is spending several weeks with friends in San Juan Capistrano.

Thomas Clark, of Spokane, Wash., is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

LEADERS FOR PLAYGROUNDS RE SELECTED

ORANGE, July 23.—Leaders for five playgrounds to be opened Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock appointed yesterday at a meeting of the playground committee, which met at the home of Mrs. Stewart White, of the Orange high school, will be director of the five recreational centers. Mr. White had this same position last year, bringing the program outlining that time to a most successful close.

It is expected that more than 200 boys and girls of the city will be present at the playgrounds which will have the following leaders: West Orange school, Miss E. Stinson and Lawrence Archibald; Intermediate school, Lois Mott and Harper Housley; Central school, Miss Frances Porter and Edith Hamill; Killefer school, Bert Skiles and Miss Gladys Miller. Mr. Hamill will have charge at the Killefer street school. Mr. Morris Singer returns from Y. M. C. A. camp in two weeks.

The swimming program begun last year will be continued this year and those attending the playgrounds will be taken to the beach the school buses once a week. Instructors will teach boys and girls how to handle themselves in the water and will guard against accidents of any sort. Last week White and Mrs. L. L. Williams, a member of the committee, will attend the International Congress of Recreation to be held in Los Angeles when play programs of various nations will be outlined. Sessions are to be held daily during today and extending to Friday.

The playgrounds will be open from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. and contests between the groups will be staged between the groups.

BENEDICTINE CLASS ARRANGES ELECTION

ORANGE, July 23.—Plans for the September meeting, when officers will be named, were discussed Thursday by members of the Benedictine class who met in the home of Mrs. Roy Cox on Chapman avenue. Mrs. Cox, Mrs. R. M. Swenson were steers for the day. A covered luncheon was served at noon. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Roy Cox. She appointed Mrs. George Esterman and Mrs. Floyd Arnas members of the nominating committee. Mrs. Ralph Hull and Mrs. Homer Baker were named the visiting committee. It was reported that 85 calls had been made and 33 bouquets distributed during the past month. Members spent the day sewing the bazaar they are to hold the fall. The next meeting will be held August 18 at Anaheim park, with Mrs. H. W. Larson, Roy Cavett and Mrs. E. Chandler as hostesses. Those present were Mesdames: Mrs. Scriven, John Moore, R. M. Swenson, Ralph Hull, Roy Cavett, A. Long, W. B. Nucholls, W. M. Pherr, Roy Cox, Russell Kenner, George Bolm, Ed Stinson, Homer Baker, Ed Ingelhart, Jane Iandier, Bessie Foster, M. V. BOOK RECALLS EARLY DAYS OF S. A. V. I. FIRM

ORANGE, July 23.—O. E. Mansur, secretary of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, this week unearthed an interesting volume which was in use in the early days of the company. The book is a long and narrow account book beautifully bound in leather. It was used by zanjeros, who went from ranch to ranch, delivered the water, made the records and collected for water.

This particular account book was in use in 1886 by Henry Young who wrote in the book in a fine and legible script the amounts of water used by ranchers whose names are linked with the early history of the county. At that time water sold for 10 cents a hundred inches by day and five cents a hundred inches at night. The present price of water is $1.60 per hundred inches, according to Mr. Mansur.

The list of water users includes the names of Samuel Armor, one of the founders of the company; W. F. A. Austermell, clerk of the first Baptist church; John Bandick, W. T. Brown, now of the firm of Brown and Dausser, of Fullerton; M. J. Bundy, pioneer hardware merchant of Santa Ana; Dr. J. G. Bailey, who had offices in Santa Ana; A. D. Bishop, James Wool, D. M. Winbiger, Silas Yarnell, who had a ranch at the corner of Batavia and Chapman; Felipe Yorba, John Cuddeback, George Y. Cottle, W. H. H. Clayton, R. F. Chilton, A. B. Clark, owner of the Yale orchards on Almond avenue; Augustus Reuter, Max, Joe and Gus Rinehaus, W. H. Spurgeon.

James R. Travis, one of the first zanjeros, A. Guy Smith, early Santa Ana pioneer; D. C. Pixley, Noah Palmer, who built a large home at the corner of Pine and Broadway, Santa Ana; Jacob Ross, for whom Ross street, Santa Ana, was named; H. W. Rohrer, James Rice, of Tustin; M. Tetzlaff, of Olive; C. Tustin, Jacob Kogler, pioneer pastor of St. John's Lutheran church of Orange; A. McFadden, M. A. Moulton, George Preble, Henri F. Gardner, superintendent of the company, secretary, director and zanjero of the company at various times; C. B. Bradshaw, D. W. C. Dimmock, A. L. Dearing, early Methodist pastor of Santa Ana; James S. English, R. H. English, Mrs. Mary Fine, A. R. Dreaser, M. A. Peters and William Jerome.

Many of these men and women have passed away and their families are still ranching and using water furnished by the company. The colorful days when the zanjeros rode from place to place, are passed and water collections are made in a prosaic manner across the counter of the water company office on North Glassell street.

Mr. Mansur found another account book of company in which the names of the first stockholders are inscribed. The book was in use in 1877. The paper of this book is of especial interest as the pages are in the same condition as they were 55 years ago, the ink unfaded and the names look as they might have been written but yesterday.

Members of First Methodist Church Class In Picnic

ORANGE, July 23.—R. P. C. class members of the First Methodist church held an enjoyable meeting Thursday at Anaheim park. Mrs. Frank Bell and Mrs. Harold Gorton were hostesses, serving a delicious covered dish luncheon at noon. During the afternoon, children of the party went in the plunge.

Those present included a former member of the class, Mrs. D. L. Harpster, of Anaheim, and her children, John and Mary, and Mrs. Kenneth Claypool and daughter and son, Virginia and Junior; Mrs. George Horton and children, Helen, Ethyl, Earl and Edna; Mrs. Trafford Watson and children, Jane and Maxine; Mrs. Wilber Nave and children, Wilberta, Shirley and Joy; Mrs. James Winget and children, June and Janice; Mrs. George Wilbur and children, Virginia, Jack and Barbara; Mrs. Arthur Streech and son, Wendell; Mrs. Leo Douglas and sons, Billy and Donald; Mrs. Fred Lentz and Dorothy and Joy Gorton.

VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, July 23.—Mrs. Elma T. Lee and Miss Elizabeth Lee, of East Palm avenue, Orange, and Mrs. Della Prince, of Harwood avenue, visited relatives in Pasadena recently. Mrs. Prince was the guest of a cousin and Mrs. Lee visited her sister, Mrs. Frazier. Frank Christian Jr., spent two weeks at Camp Osceola.

G. W. Goad, of Springfield, Mo., is visiting his sister, Mrs. E. H. Adams. Miss Ruth Caldwell is spending a few days with Mrs. J. M. Gillogly at Vista. Mr. and Mrs. McCready and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilmore were Thursday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Gail.

REUNION HELD BY GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOL

ORANGE, July 23.—A group of four former students of the local intermediate school and Orange union high school held a reunion here yesterday, when Miss Ruth Hilyard entertained at luncheon in her home, 480 South Center street. She was assisted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Hilyard.

Guests included Mrs. Northrup Ellis, of Anaheim, formerly Miss Edith Lush, Mrs. William Munn, of Los Angeles, formerly Miss Mae Benson, and Miss Agnes Durbin, of Los Angeles and Berkeley, together with the hostess, Miss Hilyard. It was 12 years ago that the girls first organized their school day club.

Since parting with graduation from Orange Union High school, all of the girls have received college degrees. Both Mrs. Munn and Mrs. Ellis are graduates of Pomona college, while Miss Hilyard and Miss Durbin have their degrees from the University of California at Berkeley. Miss Hilyard is employed at the public library in Santa Ana.

The group spent the afternoon playing bridge and discussing the events of schooldays. During the day they had their pictures taken together.

Zinnias And Marigolds Draw Notice

ORANGE, July 23.—Tens of thousands of zinnia and marigold blossom are attracting the attention of visitors to the city, the plants being placed along the four main highways into Orange. Shades of orange and gold predominate in the blossoms, while a number of deep red blooms form a vivid contrast to these colors. Some of the zinnia blossoms measure five and six inches across. The city street force is watering and caring for the plants.

SCHOOL EXPENSES IN OLIVE REDUCED

OLIVE, July 23.—No protests were made to the budget compiled by trustees of the Olive elementary school when a hearing for this purpose was held this week. The budget was reduced from $13,942.13 to $11,417.00, teachers salaries having been cut from $10,144.92 to $7,767.00. Instructional costs were slashed from the sum of $2,242.88 to $1,800.

State apportionments for the school are $505 and county, $707. These sums are exclusive of the district tax.

For stripping small fruit, such as elderberries, currants and others from their stems, an ordinary hair comb is useful.

SOCIAL HELD BY WALTHER LEAGUE

OLIVE, July 23.—Members of St. Paul's Walther league gathered for a social evening at the Cerro Villa tract Thursday evening. The evening was spent on the spacious patio, dimly lighted with the flickering fire on the large hearth, with games and songs. Mr. Sutherland, professor of English in the Orange Union High school, renewed acquaintance with many of his former pupils.

A large supply of winners had been provided by the members and were baked over the coals to be served with buns and coffee. Later in the evening watermelon was served.

Those present were the Misses Meta Paulus, Marie Breje, Josephine Luchau, Alice Heinemann, Hilma Krage, Irene Breje, Margaret Kretz, Esther Helm, Sarah Gollin, Vera Lemke, Florence Heim, and Edna Lemke; Walter Boehner, Walter Meier, Erwin Krage, Erwin Paulus, Arthur Lemke, Robert Paulus, Edwin Lemke, Arthur Paulus, Oscar Lieffers, Fred Spelch, Henry Harms, E. H. Kretz, Harold Paulus, Roy Truempler, Elmer Luchau and William Dutton.

The committee in charge of the social was composed of Miss Marie Breje, Miss Meta Paulus, Walter Boehner and Edwin Lemke.

Names Committee To Entertain When Delegates Arrive

ORANGE, July 23.—Miss Clara Beckman, head of the committee to welcome the 600 delegates to the International Walther league convention, has appointed a committee to aid her in entertainment for the young people who are expected to arrive in Orange shortly after 3 o'clock next Thursday afternoon.

Committee members are Miss Ella Bandick, Arthur Brase, Edwin Heinicke and Alfred Frick. Those to assist at the Walther Memorial hall are Miss Katherine Fitcher, Miss Margaret Fitcher, Miss Adela Ehlen, Miss Billie Muffelman, Miss Edna Bandick, Miss Elsie Beckhoff, Carl Schroeder, Arthur Schleuter and William Klausmeyer.

The following ranchers have donated trees of oranges from which delegates are to pick fruit: Louis Fitcher, William Fitcher, Mrs. Joe Fitcher, William Kothe, A. Heinicke and Alfred Frick.

A police escort is to be provided for the delegates. They will be entertained at Anaheim and will be taken through the Olive Heights packing plant.

HUGE IRRIGATION PROJECT

The first section of the world's largest irrigation project, which eventually will provide water to 5,000,000 acres of land through 6400 miles of canals, has been placed in service in India.

AUXILIARY TO HOLD ELECTION MONDAY NIGHT

ORANGE, July 23.—Election of officers for the new year will take place Monday evening when members of the American Legion auxiliary meet at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion hall. Nominations were made a short time ago.

Mrs. Clara Haines, president, will be in charge of the session. During the meeting it is expected that members will decide which day this month they will devote to sewing at the Orange Welfare store. There will be entertainment and refreshments served, with Mrs. Gertrude Williams and Mrs. Olive Kurtz on the refreshment committee.

Members of the auxiliary Mothers' club will have an all-day meeting Monday in the Legion hall, with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

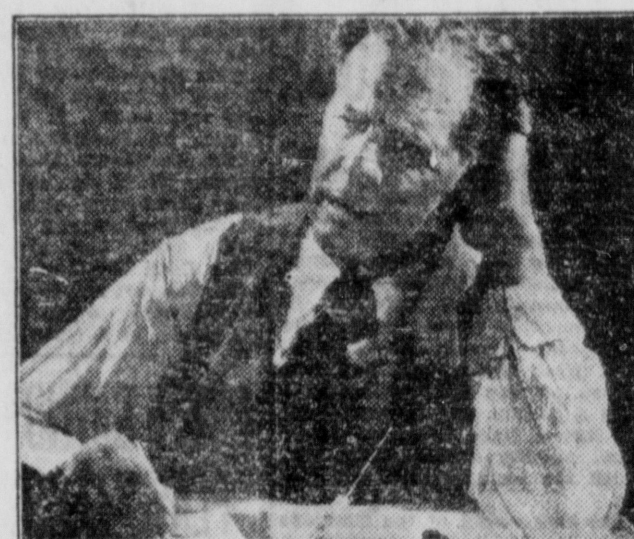

Several members of the auxiliary expect to go to San Clemente Friday to attend a fifth area meeting.

"MILLION DOLLAR LEGS" AT FOX BROADWAY

Barbara Stanwyck In "Purchase Price" Coming

"WET PARADE" ENDS SHOWING HERE TONIGHT

There's plenty of entertainment for the entire family in "The Wet Parade," which opened last night at the Fox West Coast theater, for here is a picture which not only reveals an intimate, tender romance, but unfolds a plot which carries a punch in every episode.

There are sensational exposures with dramatic incidents which will keep audiences on the edge of their seats. The picture also has its savor side, but through it all is an engrossing insight into American life of today, a feat made all the more remarkable by the fact that in directing this picture Victor Fleming never lost sight of the entertainment angle.

Southern plantation life before the World War is dramatically shown in the first episode which is in a measure a prologue. It is here that Lewis Stone in a brilliant performance depicts an aristocratic landowner who is brought to ruin by drink, leaving his daughter, Dorothy Jordan, and son, Neil Hamilton, practically penniless.

ARRIVES SUNDAY

Barbara Stanwyck, who returns to the Fox West Coast theater Sunday in her newest film success, "The Purchase Price."

GEORGE BRENT OPPOSITE STAR IN LOVE STORY

Barbara Stanwyck, one of the finest dramatic artists on the screen, comes to the Fox West Coast theater Sunday and Monday in her latest Warner Bros. picture, "The Purchase Price," a picture adapted from Arthur Stringer's great novel, "The Mud Lark."

In "The Purchase Price," Miss Stanwyck portrays a night club singer who becomes a "picture bride." Her adventures make a thrilling and exciting story, it is said, which culminates in a series of swift moving adventures including a realistic fire, during the filming of which Miss Stanwyck was burned.

Her role as the "torch singer" gives Miss Stanwyck an entirely new characterization, enhanced by her lovely singing voice which records beautifully. She is surrounded by a capable and well chosen cast, headed by George Brent, the new screen sensation who plays opposite Miss Stanwyck in the finest role of his career.

Brent is the young Irish actor, it will be remembered, who played so brilliantly in "So Big" with Miss Stanwyck, and who was seen to such advantage in Ruth Chatterton's latest picture, "The Rich Are Always with Us."

His role in "The Purchase Price" is easily his best characterization on the screen and is comparable only to some of the early Thomas Meighan characterizations, with which that great screen star won fame and the affection of movie lovers everywhere.

The story tells of a young night club entertainer whose love affair with one of the upper strata crashes about her ears, and who goes as a "picture bride" to a stranger in order to escape the attentions of the man who has held her in bondage for a number of years.

"STRANGER IN TOWN" CALLED HUMAN PICTURE

At last a picture of real people—of real folks minus the sophistication and the affectation that mark the average resident of a big city—has been brought to the screen. We refer to Warner Bros. latest picture, "Stranger in Town," which opened last night at the Fox Broadway theater, with "Chic" Sale, Ann Dvorak, David Manners, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton playing the leading roles. It is a picture with romance minus sex—a fight minus gangsters—and comedy of the finest type which the entire family will enjoy.

The background of the fictitious Belleville, Nebraska, provides a setting for a thoroughly human story of real folks.

New Sale Seen

The plot gives us a touch of novelty as far as Sale is concerned, for it opens in the covered wagon days when, as a young pioneer, he drops out of the wagon train to start the town which later contains his general store. In the sequence, we see, for the first time, Sale without his make-up and as his own natural self. But the bulk of the picture is laid in the present time where Sale, aged and bewildered, is town postmaster and owner of the only grocery store in town. On the same train on which his granddaughter returns from college is a young man who was sent out to start a chain grocery store branch in opposition to Sale. To complicate matters, the two young people fall in love, thus throwing impediments in the way of the fight which ensues between the two stores.

Noah Beery
Noah Beery as the heavy again gives one of those sterling pieces of acting which have made him famous time and time again, and Raymond Hatton, as the town's smart aleck, provides some novel comedy.

West Coast Has 5 Acts For Sunday

Vaudeville at the Fox West Coast theater for the past several Sundays has been all—and more—than the audience have expected and as a result the Sunday shows are being looked forward to with the greatest of pleasure.

Last week, patrons were turned away from the doors at the night performances. Others waited in line for over an hour.

This week's bill, for Sunday only, is said to be just as good as the one last week. It includes Les Kicks, an European novelty act which has never been seen here before. It is an unusual thing—three frogs—who climb trees and furnish 12 minutes of rare comedy; Little Leon, boy cycling sensation; Cecil Williams, well known colored singer; Nelson and Thatcher, Collegiate stutters, and Richard Adair, in a comedy act.

JANET GAYNOR TO PLAY "TESS" SOON

Janet Gaynor will play the title role in "Tess of the Storm Country," as her next characterization for Fox Films. Alfred Santell is to direct the picture. The screen play will be written by S. N. Behrman and Sonya Levien. Miss Gaynor has just completed work on her latest Fox photoplay, an adaptation of Frank Craven's play, "The First Year," in which she is co-starred with Charles Farrell under the direction of William K. Howard.

"Tess of the Storm Country" was originally a novel written by Grace Miller White. The story achieved such extensive popularity that it was dramatized and has been played in stock in most sections of the country.

BIG BAND OF COMEDIANS IN OLYMPIC FILM

"Million Dollar Legs," Paramount's Olympic Games comedy, which comes to the Fox Broadway theater Sunday, with an all-star comedy cast headed by Jack Oakie, W. C. Fields, Lyda Roberti, Ben Turpin, Hank Mann, Andy Clyde, Susan Fleming and Dickie Moore, is said to be a completely dizzy burlesque which out-slaps sticks slapstick.

The story beings in the Republic of Klopstokia, where all the men are named George and all the women, Angela, and the President, W. C. Fields, holds his job because he is the best weight lifter in the country. Jack Oakie plays the role of a red-hot American brush salesman who falls in love with one of Klopstokia's Angelas, and in order to save the defunct treasury of the country, organizes an Olympic team which can carry off all the international honors and win an endowment offered by Jack's boss, the brush king. So all of Klopstokia, including the famous spy, Mata Machree, "the woman no man can resist," journeys to Los Angeles for the Olympic Games, and there, in spite of Mata's dirty work, good old Klopstokia comes through.

Roberti Starred

Lyda Roberti, noted comedienne of Broadway musical comedy, has the role of the seductive Mata. Susan Fleming, another former Broadway showgirl, is the romantic lead, and Dickie Moore turns comedian as the heroine's young brother, who has a bw and arrow and a penchant for shooting arrows at inopportune moments. Ben Turpin plays a new kind of spy: He watches both sides.

The film is based on an original script written by Joseph L. Mankiewicz and Henry Myers, and has been directed by Edward Cline, who was once one of the famous Keystone Kops.

TO BROADCAST SELECTIONS OF VARIED NATURE

An unusually interesting group of selections will be presented during the Musical Masterpieces program which will be heard from KREG from 6 until 6:30 o'clock this evening.

The program will include Beethoven's "Egmont Overture," Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor Overture," Mendelssohn's selection from "Hebrides," an overture, "Pingu's Cave," and two masterpieces of Jewish origin, "Kol Nidre" and "Eli, Eli."

The Honolulu Playboys present their second program at 7 o'clock tonight after having made a big hit with their radio audience last Thursday night. The artists would appreciate a written word of appreciation.

Two hours of broadcast will be devoted to a special elaborate Spanish program from 9 to 11 o'clock tonight which will be conducted by Senor Laurent by direct wire from the K. of P. hall. The new orchestra on the Spanish program will provide Spanish and domestic numbers comparable to the best.

The orchestra is considered to be one of the most versatile on the Pacific Coast, featuring all types of music from "Rhapsody in Blue" to the "Peanut Vendor." Musicians comprising this group are artists of the first rank. Each man is a featured soloist on his own instrument. A feature of the evening will be Don Julio, Spanish program director of KFVD who will be present with many of his entertainers as guests, all of whom will be in costume.

Announce New Program For Children

Lorena Croddy, friend of hundreds of Orange county children, who conducted the children's program over KREG for many months, will begin a new series of programs for kiddies starting Monday at 6:45 p. m., it was announced today by studio officials.

The program, which will be a regular Monday feature, will be especially interesting. No child between the ages of six and 14 should miss the initial program. Be sure to tune in Monday at 6:45 p. m. and pass the word along to all your friends, studio officials asked.

Handel, Berlioz, Strauss, Bizet, Debussy and Liszt.

Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor will be performed in full as the feature of the recital by Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony orchestra during the broadcast of the Symphonic Hour over the Columbia network including KJH, from 11 a. m. to noon tomorrow. Other selections to be heard will include the Overture, "Russian Easter" by Rimsky-Korsakoff and two intermezzi, the F Sharp Minor and the G Major by Kalinnikoff.

The Sanctuary Choir and Cathedral Choir will be featured during the broadcast of the Cathedral Hour, a musical service produced each week by Channon Colledge, to be heard over the Columbia network including KJH, from 12 to 1 p. m. tomorrow. These groups of specially trained voices will offer several beautiful hymns and anthems, among them, "Our Father" by Stainer; "Panis Angelicus" by Bain; Chadwick's "Jehovah Reigns"; and "Adore Te" of Mozart. Several solo highlights have been arranged for the presentation, including the rendition by Barbara Maurel, contralto, of Scott's "Come Ye Blessed"; Mendelssohn's song, "O For the Wings of a Dove," sung by Julia Mahoney, soprano; Theo Karle, tenor, singing "Adoration" by Altheim; and Saint-Saens' "Father in Heaven" offered by Crane Calder, bass.

Beethoven's famous "Egmont" Overture and the Symphony No. 13 in G by Haydn will be the featured selections on the Lewishohn Stadium concert to be broadcast over the Columbia network including KJH, July 24, from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m., tomorrow. The final selection to be presented by Willem van Hoogstraten and the orchestra of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society will be Rachmaninoff's symphonic poem, "The Island of the Dead."

Classics and more popular compositions have been chosen by Edwin Franko Goldman for the concert which his band will present over a coast-to-coast NBC network including KFI between 5 and 5:30 o'clock this evening. The program includes Karl Goldmark's concert overture, "In Spring," performed in 1889 in Vienna for the first time; a group of Hungarian dances by Brahms; high lights from the fifth act of Gounod's opera, "Faust," and two lighter works by Fletcher and Hadley.

SUNDAY SERVICES TO BE BROADCAST

In the regular Sunday church services which are featured over KREG, the Rev. Frank E. Lindgren, pastor of the Calvary church, will speak on the subject "Living Stones" in a service to be broadcast at 11 a. m. tomorrow by direct wire from the church. In the evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the Rev. Lindgren will talk on the subject, "Barabbas and the Atonement." Mrs. Dr. Moss will be guest soloist at both services.

Judge Rutherford will give his usual Sunday address to KREG listeners tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. when he talks on the subject, "The Feast" through the means of electrical transcription.

One o'Clock Ceremony Unites Young Couple in Marriage

A wedding ceremony of quiet charm was solemnized Wednesday evening, July 20 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Vance, 628 Riverside avenue, when their daughter, Miss Harriet Vance, was married to Cedric E. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jones of Orange.

Nine o'clock was the hour chosen for the evening rites, with immediate relatives of the young couple in attendance. The Rev. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the officiating minister.

Ferns and flowers banked effectively provided a setting for baskets of colorful blooms arranged throughout the home for the occasion.

Miss Vance was an attractive bride in her sports frock of brown and tan, with hat, shoes and other accessories in the same combination. Her pretty floral corsage was gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Francis Edmunds of Newport Beach, a sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor, wearing an informal costume in Olympic blue with a corsage of Cecil Brunner rosebuds.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Jones are making their home at 617 1/2 North Ramsey street. Mr. Jones is employed in this city with the Union Oil company. He and his bride have deferred honeymoon plans until a later date.

Northcross Home is Setting for Card Hospitality

Friends of Robert Northcross, invited to his home at 1318 Spurgeon street for a few rounds of bridge, were participants in an especially pleasant evening's entertainment Tuesday night.

Mrs. Robert C. Northcross, who hosted her son in entertaining, had arranged zinnias and gladioli, sent by friends, throughout the home, this decoration lending color to the setting in which card tables were erected.

The totalling of bridge scores brought prizes to four contestants, including Miss Georgia Walton, high among young women players, and Miss Eleanor Crookank, second high; Ronald Crookank, high, and Terry Stephenson, second high, among the men.

Flying Needle Club Has Meeting at Anaheim Park

An all-day meeting at Anaheim park was enjoyed Thursday by members and friends of the Flying Needle club. A program including such contests as a toothpick hunt was held during the day, with Miss Elizabeth Griffin winning the prize.

At noon a delicious luncheon, including a variety of hot dishes, was served. Women of the group spent much of the time sewing.

Guests were Mrs. Jack Shaw, Mrs. Benjamin Vesle, Mrs. William Hanna and Erroll Barnes, Adolph

Modernettes Conspire To Honor Member At Party

Although their customary business discussion and series of card games occupied the Modernettes at their latest meeting with Mrs. Jack Patmor, 206 Highland street, chief interest was reserved for the surprise climax following the bridge contest and the prize award of Fostoria mayonnaise set to Mrs. Nylin Hurd.

For the Modernettes and their hostess had conspired to compliment one of their number, Mrs. Boyd Sleeper, and even the flowers arranged so charmingly by Mrs. Patmor, seemed to suggest the special nature of the surprise. In the unfolding of the pleasant plans, Mrs. Sleeper was presented with a great box, bright with bunnies, kittens and other designs of childhood, and filled to overflowing with packages daintily tied with pink and blue. Each package contained some gift especially chosen with her future hopes and dreams in mind, and her examination of the lovely articles was shared with her friends.

Card tables again were called into service when they were spread with pale blue cloths and centered with slim blue tapers held in blue and gold candlesticks. At each place was a tiny blue and gold cradle filled with nuts and candies to enjoy with the iced tea, wafers and stork-moulded ice cream of the refreshment course.

Sharing with Mrs. Patmor's friendly plans were her honoree, Mrs. Boyd Sleeper, Mrs. John Gartho, Mrs. Oscar Hemmerstein, Mrs. Harold Teach, Mrs. Elbert Blower, Mrs. Dwight Miller and Mrs. Nylin Hurd.

Santa Anans Observe Anniversary in Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mitchell of 1556 West Sixth street, whose marriage occurred ten years ago in Colorado Springs, Colo., returned yesterday from a six weeks' trip to that city in the course of which they celebrated their wedding anniversary. The anniversary, falling on July 10, was observed in Colorado Springs, where Mrs. Mitchell, a former resident of that city, enjoyed many reunions with relatives and old friends. The Mitchells were accompanied on the trip by their daughters, Betty Ellen and Joanne, and by Mrs. Mitchell's mother, Mrs. C. B. Babcock.

In addition to visiting Mrs. Mitchell's sister and brother, Mrs. J. W. Brenneke and A. L. Babcock, in Colorado Springs, the Santa Ana family enjoyed side trips to the many points of interest to that locality. The Mitchells picnicked in the Colorado mountains and visited the fishing club and the Garden of Gods as well as making longer jaunts to Greeley and Denver. They made the entire journey by automobile.

Luncheon is Social Feature of Golf Tournament

Women golfers participating in the monthly tournament staged under the auspices of Santa Ana Country club, Thursday enjoyed a pleasant luncheon interval when play was interrupted for a period at noon.

A large representation took part in the play, contestants participating in the social interval between golf sessions including Mesdames Frank C. Drumm, C. V. Doty, L. H. Robinson, J. Lamont McFadden, J. K. McDonald, Hugh Shields, T. B. Talbert, E. B. Wilson, Norbert E. Lentz, E. K. Gerhardt, Don Andrews, Roy Langley and her guest, Mrs. Lutz; L. J. Bushard, W. F. Kistinger, W. McClure, W. N. Prince, R. A. Tiersan, Foster Lamm, C. J. Cogan, M. N. Thompson, E. E. Piper, M. D. Ames, the Misses Lolita Mead, Margaret Way and Mary Saulsberry, all of Santa Ana; and Mesdames H. J. Bakre, Hosmer, W. A. Eardley, A. Froet, and G. H. Burnett, all of Huntington Beach.

Erickson and F. W. Bergendorff. Members present were Mrs. Erroll Barnes, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Bergendorff, Mrs. William Kintz, Mrs. Bernard Snee, Mrs. Elizabeth Erickson, Miss Verena Bailey and Miss Elizabeth Griffin.

ROMANTIC THEME IS UPPERMOST WITH EACH OF THESE VERY CHARMING GIRLS

MISS ELPHA THORNDIKE
The personal charm and loveliness of Miss Elpha Thorndike, daughter of the Alfred H. Thorndikes, of 1523 North Broadway, Santa Ana, gave special interest to the announcement of her betrothal to Albert Tinsner, young Corona businessman. This interesting announcement was made early in July when Mrs. Thorndike entertained at an afternoon of bridge, and the charming girls and youthful matrons comprising the guest list were informed that September would probably be the bridal month selected by the young people. Miss Thorndike graduated from Santa Ana high school three years ago, and has since continued her studies at Berkeley and at University of California at Los Angeles. She is prominent in all activities of the younger social set in this city, and many delightful events are being planned for her as pre-nuptial compliments from her friends.

MRS. ERNEST MENARD
It was on Sunday, July 10 that Miss Velma Winnie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Williams of Magnolia avenue, Fullerton, became the bride of Ernest Menard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menard, also of Fullerton. The young people took their wedding vows in St. Andrew's Episcopal church in the neighboring city, before the rector, the Rev. Charles Malpas, in the presence of a large assemblage of invited relatives and friends. A wedding breakfast in the Williams home followed the nuptials, and was followed in turn by the departure of the new Mr. and Mrs. Menard, who were to spend the remainder of July in touring California and the coast states. Upon their return they will make their home in the northern part of the county as Mr. Menard is connected with the Placentia branch of the Bank of America.

MRS. CLYDE HIGGINS
Mrs. Clyde Higgins of Orange will be remembered as Miss Beryl Ludlow, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ludlow of Santa Ana. Her marriage to the young Orange furniture man took

TWIN BRIDES
That close bond of twinnish which has made so beautiful the childhood and girlhood of the Misses Ruth and Naomi Bulpitt, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bulpitt of Bishop, and sisters of Dr. J. M. Bulpitt of Santa Ana, was quite as much in evidence when romance entered their lives as it was when they were popular co-eds at University of California at Los Angeles. For it was as twin brides that they stood at the altar of the We Kirk of the Heather in Glendale on Sunday, July 17, Miss Ruth Bulpitt (left) plighting her troth to Dr. Bernard Pierson, and Miss Naomi Bulpitt (right) wedding William Conditt. Nor are they going to let life separate them as young matrons, for Dr. Pierson, who just completed his internship at the Sacramento County hospital, will launch in private practice in Bishop where Mr. Conditt is a member of the high school faculty and where attractive homes await the charming twin brides. The sisters have innumerable friends in Santa Ana who have been deeply interested in their wedding, for they took their junior college work here after graduating from Bishop high school, graduating two years later from U. C. L. A. and immediately taking up teaching, one at Big Pine and the other at Bishop.

MRS. JOHN A. MARING
Established in a pleasant home on the Delhi road just south of Santa Ana, Mrs. John A. Maring is welcoming a host of friends who are eager to greet her and Mr. Maring since their return from the automobile honeymoon trip which followed their wedding on June 22 in Los Angeles. Mrs. Maring was Miss Helen Maulhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Maulhardt of Los Angeles, but had visited frequently in this city, the home of Mr. Maring, well known young rancher. The banns of the young couple were read in St. Ann's Catholic church here on the same Sunday that those of Miss Evangeline Wolford and Daniel Jerry, and Miss Gladys McDonald and Richard McDonald were read, and the three couples have long been close friends, planning their weddings on three successive days. The Maulhardt-Maring wedding took place in St. Agnes church, Los Angeles, with the Rev. Father Reagan officiating. The wedding reception was held in the Ambassador hotel.

Margarita Marsden Weds in Nevada; May Visit Here

Of the keenest interest to her wide circle of friends in this community was word arriving today of the marriage of Mrs. Margarita Marsden, formerly prominent in Santa Ana music activities, to Amer C. Stolp of Marysville, at Carson City, Nev. the latter part of June. News of the wedding was divulged by Mrs. W. W. Hyde of 1423 Spurgeon street, who was informed of the wedding in a letter just received from the new Mrs. Stolp.

The marriage, taking place in the Presbyterian church parsonage at Carson City and performed by the pastor of that congregation, was witnessed only by the two attendants, L. A. Thorn and his wife, Dr. Mildred Thorn, medical supervisor of the Welmar Sanitarium and old friend of Mrs. Stolp.

May Visit Santa Ana
Mr. and Mrs. Stolp are settled in Marysville following a wedding trip to San Francisco. A longer trip is planned in August, according to advice contained in the letter to Mrs. Hyde. Mrs. Stolp indicating that she and her husband would leave August 6 for Salt Lake City and Yellowstone park, probably visiting Santa Ana the latter part of August.

An active participant in various local music movements, Mrs. Stolp directed the Treble Clef club of women singers for a period during her residence here, and assisted with the organizing of the Phi Zeta musical society. Two years of study abroad were included among her experiences during this period.

For the past several years Mrs. Stolp has been a member of the music department of the Marysville Union high school and of the Yuba County Junior college, holding, in addition to her faculty positions the directorship of the Sacramento Valley Choral society and the music chairmanship of the northern district, California Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Stolp was a soloist at an older girls' conference held recently under the auspices of the latter organization, and filled a similar position on the program of the northern district convention of the association, at Red Bluff.

Civic Worker
Mr. Stolp, a graduate of the State Teachers' college at Chico, where he resided formerly, for the past three years has been manager of the California Water Service company at Marysville. Prominently connected with various service clubs in the latter city, he has served as secretary of the Marysville Central Relief committee and has been active in forwarding Boy Scout interests. Both he and Mrs. Stolp have taken a prominent part in the civic life of Marysville, and Mrs. Stolp expects to resume her duties with the music department faculties this fall.

Silver Anniversary is Made Happy Event By Friends

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Truempler conspired to make their silver wedding anniversary a happy event, giving a delightful surprise party in their home near Orange. Mr. and Mrs. Truempler were married in Michigan, and came to Southern California shortly after the ceremony.

First indication that they were having guests for the evening came to the Orange couple when they heard automobile horns making much commotion on the grounds of the home. The evening was spent in discussing events of the present and of years gone by.

To conclude the affair guests served sherbet and coffee with a delicious angelfood cake decorated in silver. Mr. and Mrs. Truempler were presented with a handsome set of silver from the assembled group.

Those present were Mrs. Flora Domke, Mr. and Mrs. William Morner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Priester, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bahr, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Graber, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Truempler, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ristow and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Truempler, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Truempler, Mrs. Pauline Rubine, Mrs. Kate Turk, Henry Glesener, Mrs. Christina Glesener, Mrs. Henrietta Truempler, Miss Lorraine Shaffer, Miss Dorothy Paulsen, Miss Vivian Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Truempler and family.

Many Guests Come and Go Among Cottagers At Forest Home

Forest Home continues to exert its lure for Santa Anans, who share with other dwellers in the coastal plain, the delights of vacation outings in the pine-scented atmosphere of that popular mountain resort.

Santa Ana cottagers have been especially happy this past week, to greet Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brannan and the Misses Evelyn and Marian Brannan, former residents of this city who now make their home in Riverside. The Brannans have opened their cabin now and will remain in the resort for the rest of the summer, with Mr. Brannan arriving to spend the week-ends and his vacation.

Large House Party
The J. R. Farwell family, in the mountains for the summer, have been greeting many guests. Miss G. Fredericks, sister of Mrs. Farwell, spends her week-ends with them, while Mr. Farwell's brother, Eber Farwell, and his family, who are here from Michigan, are enjoying the mountain hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Farwell, as they have been enjoying that extended here in Santa Ana. Other recent guests in Forest Home, have included Mrs. Libbie Drew and her daughter and son, Dorothy and Dick Drew, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Smith who is here from Borneo.

Mrs. S. W. Bradley and Miss Betty Bradley are sharing the Gowen cabin with Mrs. Frederick Eley for a two weeks' period, with Mr. Eley and Mrs. Bradley up in the week-ends. Miss Elizabeth Overshiner also is with them for a week.

The J. H. Scotts have opened their place on the mountain side far above Forest Home, from which they may look down on the resort and command a wonderful stretch of country.

The G. H. Goodwins opened their cabin on the Hotel site for a few days, entertaining a lively house-party whose members have shared many such enjoyable outings. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Livesey, Mr. and Mrs. C. Kemper and Mr. and Mrs. Willis E. Hennison.

At Camp Grounds
At the Santa Ana Municipal Camp grounds, a troop of Boy Scouts add to the interest of the cottagers and make the evening campfire gatherings doubly enjoyable.

Among those taking advantage of this splendid camps site are Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs and son, William S. Gibbs and their guest, Walter Brinton of San Francisco; The Walter Somerby with Messrs. The Walter Somerby with their son and daughter; Messrs C. E. Schwenc, Keith Hoffmaster and Lee Hoffmaster; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Howell and children, Anita, Harriet, Anna, Roger and Alice; and their guests, Mrs. James Hanson and son and daughter, Armand and Genevieve Hanson.

Entertainment Feature
The fine new schoolhouse in the valley is proving quite a central gathering place, and with Mrs. William G. Knox of this city as entertainment chairman for the Big Pine Tract committee, they are anticipating many enjoyable evenings. These were launched last Saturday in advance of the usual Saturday evening dancing party, when a government film and musical entertainment attracted a crowd of nearly 200 persons. The film seemed especially timely as it showed examples of wild life with many suggestions for caring for the forests and their denizens and guarding against forest fires.

Entirely different reels will be shown at future entertainments as the government will co-operate by sending various motion pictures of wide general interest.

Bridge Club Members Have Luncheon in Orange

Bridge club members were enjoyably entertained yesterday afternoon when they were guests of Mrs. John Backus in her home in Orange. Colorful zinnias and dahlias from the gardens of the home were used in decorating the rooms and the table where the delicious luncheon was served to preclude card play.

Mrs. L. W. Blodgett was fortunately in scoring high at bridge, while Mrs. Arthur May won second high laurels. Mrs. William Penn was consoled.

Mrs. May was a guest of the afternoon. Members sharing Mrs. Backus' hospitality were Mesdames David Betten, S. R. Kaufman, Sidney Russell, B. J. McKinney, Elmer Christiansen, Roy King, William Penn, Franklin West, John Loxembourger, L. W. Blodgett and Ella Wagner.

Little Maid's Birthday Celebrated With Happy Party

When the little girls of a recently organized play club were invited to a party honoring little Miss Kathryn Stockton, it was a most enjoyable experience, for they had the fun of knowing that it was all a secret, since Kathryn's mother, Mrs. Bruce Stockton, planned the party as a birthday surprise to her small daughter.

The children gathered at the Stockton home at 508 South Bristol street, each bearing some pretty gift for their young hostess in honor of her eighth birthday. Games and frolics were soon underway and the happy afternoon reached its climax when Mrs. Stockton summoned the youngsters to the dining room for refreshments.

Sunny and inviting, the table was garlanded with flowers in tones of yellow and orange, with favors and birthday candles to continue the cheerful color scheme. Ice cream was served with a birthday cake, with Mrs. Stockton assisted by her sister, Mrs. Nat Nelson of Walnut Park.

Sharing her eighth birthday party with little Miss Kathryn were her sister, Lois Mae Stockton, her two cousins, Jack and Evelyn Nelson of Huntington Park; Virginia Rossier, Pauline Struck, Nancy Morris and Rose Ann Griggs.

Sigma Theta Girls Return Tonight From Beach

Sigma Theta sorority members have comprised a houseparty spending this past week at Laguna Beach. Some of the members have remained at the beach during the entire period, others motoring down for briefer stays, as time permitted. The entire party is expected to return tomorrow, concluding a week which has been happily devoted to swimming, beach sports and dancing.

Members of this sorority include the Misses Marguerite Lentz, president; Barbara Horton, Loretta Spangler, Ruth Owens, Doris Rohrbacher, Martha Wallingford, Clara Kate Owens, Marcella Huber, Helen Spangler, Eleanor Bairdon, Alma McBride, Barbara and Louise Rurup, Bernice Rathbun, Betty Hewitt, Frances Vieira, Corinne Lacravaine, Eleanor Mount, Mrs. Wilma Smith and Mrs. Ethel Erwin.

Plans are being made by the young women of this group for a dancing party to be held at the Hotel Roosevelt roof garden on the evening of August 4.

Hermosa Past Matrons Enjoy Program at Newport Beach

Outstanding because of its charming setting and a delightful musical program given by Clara Gustin, was the meeting of Hermosa Past Matrons' association held Thursday at Newport Beach with Mrs. J. R. Medlock as hostess in her summer home there.

The beach cottage was brightened with daisies, tiny asters and greenery. Small tables were spread with dainty linens for the covered dish luncheon cafeteria style, with officers of the order presiding at this time.

For his part in the program, Mr. Gustin had chosen an appropriate group of piano numbers written by some of the most prominent women composers of the day. Among them was the latest composition of Madame Manuella V. Browne-Rafferty. His brilliant playing was appreciated to the utmost by the Past Matrons.

Roll call provided entertainment for the remainder of the afternoon, with the president, Mrs. H. T. Trueblood presiding over the meeting. Members resented with current events, travel talks and other items of interest.

A special guest of the day was Mrs. George Osterman, worthy matron of Hermosa chapter. Members present were Mesdames W. A. Atkinson, C. D. Benight, Minnie Briggs, Joe C. Burke, Thomas Brooks, F. D. Drake, C. W. Ellis, N. E. Gilbert, John A. Harvey, M. M. Holmes, Ruth Hurlburt, Blanche Hanson, H. T. Jones, J. W. McCormack, J. R. Medlock, J. G. Mitchell, F. H. Rowland, Max Reinhardt, O. M. Robbins, Cora C. Rugg, H. T. Trueblood, Jeanette Terwilliger, Theo Winkler, Rose Wilson, and Miss Doris Robbins, a guest.

Missionary Women Hear Review

Another of the series of books which the Missionary women of the First Presbyterian church are studying was reviewed Thursday by half a dozen members of that organization, each of the program participants presenting one chapter in the volume. A program of similar type will be enjoyed next month when the women convene with Miss Preble Drake at her home, 1117 North Broadway, August 13.

Nearly half a hundred members were present for Thursday's session, arriving for a covered dish luncheon at noon in the lovely gardens of the C. G. Dowds home at 624 South Broadway before re-assembling for the entertainment.

Contributing to the women's review were Mrs. Jeannette Terwilliger, Mrs. Emma Bond, Mrs. E. C. McKinstry and Miss Hill. Mrs. Elizabeth Clark and Miss Mary Craig assisted the hostess with luncheon details.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 23.—A friendship quilt which members of the Rebekah club have been working on for some time was completed Thursday, when the regular meeting of the club was held. The meeting was for all day, with pot luck luncheon served at noon.

Those present included Mrs. Maude Michl, Mrs. Mary Mansperger, Mrs. Nellie Parr, Mrs. Alice Hare, Miss Lillian Arnett, Mrs. Ondie McDaniel, Mrs. Anna Abbott while joining them for the afternoon were Mrs. Marie Palcke, Mrs. Frank Van Uden, Mrs. Nellie Murdy, Miss Ella Murdy and Mrs. Lily Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clough and son, Gerald, were in Los Angeles one day as dinner guests of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunsacker.

MIXING BOWL

For Variety in the Breakfast Menu

Packaged cereals have taken us a long way from the simple old cereals of other days, but now, when we are looking for new methods of preparing cereals are given a rousing "welcome home" at least for an occasional substitute.

Whole wheat, by that I mean the wheat berry as it comes from the field, has the valuable growth vitamin in its outside covering in quantity. Wheat also carries a considerable amount of the body-building protein, and of course, the starchy part which produces heat and energy when digested.

To prepare the wheat for breakfast use, buy several pounds of hard winter wheat, wash what you wish to use (about 2 cupsful) and let the grains dry again. Run through the food chopper. In the top of the double boiler have 4 cups of boiling water and a teaspoonful of salt.

Slowly add the ground wheat, and keep stirring until it boils and begins to thicken (this cooking is done directly over the flame, not over hot water). When slightly thickened, put the kettle over the hot water, cover tightly and cook for several hours. Serve with top milk and honey for a breakfast dish that will put roses in your children's cheeks and pep in their dad's stride of mornings.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Delicate Fritter Batter

1 level cup flour

1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

2 teaspoons cornstarch

4 tablespoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

2 eggs, whites beaten stiff

1/2 cup sweet milk

1 tablespoon salad oil

Do you refrain from making fritter batter because of the waste of left-over batter? You need not, for what batter remains can be put in a covered jar in the refrigerator and kept for days. When wanted, just live up to the batter by whipping in a scant teaspoonful of baking powder mixed with 1 tablespoonful of hot water.

This live-up process applies beautifully to left-over muffin and waffle batter. I invariably make double amounts since I found the idea worked, and let me assure you that the ice-boxed remnant produces a finer product than does the freshly mixed batter.

Measure the cup of pastry flour into the flour sifter, add the sugar, cornstarch, baking powder and salt, and mix three times. Mix the milk and egg yolks and have the whites ready, beaten stiff. Alternate flour and liquid in mixing, add the oil after the batter is smooth, then fold in the frothed whites.

Plain fritters served with a hot lemon sauce are not too bad for dessert, you know. Have a vessel full of smoking hot fat (for deep frying). Drop the fritter batter by spoonfuls into it and fry to a golden brown.

Diced fruit can be added to some of the batter for fruit fritters. Some of it can be kept for vegetable fritters.

Have you ever eaten Zucchini Fritters? They are just too good for words, so put them on your list when you make up a supply of this fritter batter. In making them, choose the small squash, do not peel, but cut in thin slabs and these into lengths the exact size of matches.

Drop them into a little fritter batter, turn carefully with two forks to coat them, then drop by spoonfuls into deep fat and fry. The squash will cook almost instantly. Serve them with fried chicken or delicate broiled fish.

I regret that this is the last day on which we can offer free of charge the current leaflet, GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY. There is so much of interest in this leaflet I hope that you will avail yourself of the offer—a copy of leaflet if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent in.

Au Revoir until Monday.

Las Gitanas Members Have First Session Of Summer

Enjoying the first of several summer meetings, members of Las Gitanas, women's service club of the Santa Ana Junior college, spent yesterday at Laguna Beach. Swimming and beach sports occupied the attention of the collegians throughout the day, with this program pleasantly interrupted at noon by an appetizing beach luncheon. Miss Evelyn Fairley, new president of the group, conducted a short business meeting. The chief topic of discussion was the part the club will take in the Freshman week program in September and plans were formulated for a new type of swimming party for the entering students. Club pins and other summer meetings also were discussed.

Those attending the affair were the Misses Evelyn Fairley, Katherine Robbins, Velma Bishop, Lucille Reisch, Mary Nalle, Betty Vorce, Virginia Warner, Irene Ross, Pauline Wells, Alberta Greene, Katherine Bement, Kathleen Killefer of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. Parley Smith, club adviser, Mrs. Frank Fairley, Mrs. Luella Greene and Mrs. Grace Marchant and small daughter, "Bootsie".

YOU and your friends

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon and little daughter, Betty Louise, 2020 Santiago avenue, have returned from an enjoyable vacation spent at Camp Baldy. They had as their guests during the stay there, Mrs. Vernon's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sholly of Altadena. One day of the vacation was spent as guests of Mrs. W. L. McKinney of Los Angeles, in her cabin at Ice House canyon. Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dennis and daughter Dorothy of Santa Ana also were guests of Mrs. McKinney at that time.

Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Berta Armstrong, Mrs. Frances Tedford and son, Tom Tedford of Santa Ana, have returned from Yosemite where they spent several days. They were accompanied north by Mrs. Minnie Baxter, who remained there for a visit with friends. During the northern vacation, Miss Ruth Armstrong and her young nephew, Tom Tedford, enjoyed a two-day mountain hike.

Miss Stella Grotz, 508 West Eighth street, is at Santa Ana Valley hospital recovering from injuries received this past week when she fell at Idyllwild, where she was spending a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Darnell, 2781 North Flower street, are expected to return soon from Lake Tahoe, where they have been spending several days.

Mrs. Howard Stickland and daughter Phyllis, of Pomona, spent the past week in the home of Mrs. Stickland's mother, Mrs. A. A. Jones, 1401 Bush street. The Rev. Howard Stickland, who attended the recent convention at Sacramento, has been returned to the pastorate of the Holt avenue church at Pomona, where he is beginning his fourth year.

Several members of the Santa Ana church of the United Brethren in Christ, of which the Rev. C. W. Ringland is pastor, plan to go to Camp Bethel tomorrow to remain for ten days. The camp is located about six miles northwest of Pomona in San Dimas canyon. Ten churches are to be represented and Bishop I. D. Warner is to be dean of the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. MacMullen, 2418 Hollohope drive, have returned from a ten-day motor trip to San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. Hubert B. Nall, 1002 North Olive street, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Daniger, 1020 Kilson drive, have returned from a vacation trip to San Francisco. Mrs. Daniger and Mrs. Nall went north by boat and were joined later by their husbands, the four returning southward by automobile.

Guests From Nebraska Are Complimented at Dinner Events

The presence in this city of Mrs. George Proud and her young son Richard, of Arapahoe, Neb., has inspired a number of pretty parties planned by friends of Mrs. Proud's hosts, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sparks, of 924 Fairview avenue. Mrs. Sparks and Mrs. Proud are sisters.

On Thursday evening, Dr. and Mrs. John Bower were dinner hosts in compliment to the visitors, receiving their guests in their pretty home at 1324 Bush street. Mrs. Bower had planned her dinner as an all fresco event, the gardens of the home being at their loveliest just now, with a rich profusion of flowers. Especially are the baby zinnias, just in their first full blooming, and their soft rich colors were effective as table decorations.

Covers were laid for the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Bower, and their daughter, Miss Helen Bower; Mrs. George Proud and her son Richard and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sparks and their little daughter, Betty Anne.

In Garner Home
Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Garner of 1507 East Fourth street, have been other recent hosts to assist in making Mrs. Proud's Santa Ana visit an enjoyable one, and last night, with their little daughter, Dorothy, assembled an intimate group of friends for a dinner complimentary to the Nebraska visitor and her young son.

With Mr. and Mrs. Sparks and their home guests, were a few of the friends that have enjoyed meeting the Nebraskans during their summer visit, to share the appetizing menu and the informal evening which followed.

Church Societies

Calvary Church

Gathering Thursday in the home of Mrs. M. E. Allen, members of the Women's Missionary society of Calvary church spent a busy day making clothes for native evangelists and their wives, who are under the direction of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Hurlburt of the Un evangelized Africa Mission.

At noon, a covered dish luncheon was enjoyed.

Those present, other than the hosts, Mrs. Allen, were Mrs. George Tyler, Mrs. Martha Crane, Mrs. Henry Burchfield, Mrs. M. E. Files, Miss Carrie Files, Mrs. Ernest Arrowsmith and daughter Grace, Garden Grove; Mrs. R. Earl Elliott, Mrs. C. E. Pollins, Mrs. Effie M. Crawford and Mrs. J. H. Croughan, Santa Ana.

South Methodist

The lovely gardens of Mrs. A. A. Jones' home, 1401 Bush street were the scene of an enjoyable meeting this week when women of Susan Wesley circle of Spurgeon Memorial church convened for the afternoon.

Mr. McConnell, the president, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Jones led devotionals, after which Mrs. Joseph Thacker of Orange conducted mission study on "Korea." Mrs. C. M. Aker, wife of the pastor of the church, gave a talk on the recent annual convention held at Sacramento.

Mrs. Jones, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Maude Charr, and Mrs. Thacker, served refreshments at a beautifully appointed tea table. A green and yellow color theme was observed at this time.

BOLSA

BOLSA, July 23.—Mrs. M. Shiffer, who has been at Delta, Utah the past month with members of her family, has returned home.

Lou Showers and family spent Sunday at Huntington Park.

Mrs. Verne Ferguson has as her guest, a niece from Anaheim who is with her for three weeks.

Vince Begett and three sisters attended the Tournament of Lights at Newport Beach Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Rork, who have been with relatives at Ventura, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bauer and sons are at home from San Juan Hot Springs, where they have vacationed for two weeks. Before their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bauer entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gladys Fuller and son, of this place, as their guests for the day.

Union Veterans Sons, Daughters Stage Annual Dinner

Patriotic in theme, the address delivered by Franklin G. West before the annual meeting of the Sons and Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War at Irvine park last night was peculiarly in keeping with the character of these two organizations.

A gathering of approximately 70 members of the two orders heard the address and participated in other phases of a program which opened with the singing of "America" to the accompaniment of Mrs. Helen McPhee, who later complied with requests for solo selections. Following Mr. West's talk, Mrs. Vigil Clem sang several numbers, accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton.

A series of games followed, members lingering until the extinguishing of lights in the park compelled them to abandon their picnic site. Responsibility for the annual event was divided between Mesdames C. E. Brayton, F. I. Davies, Helen McPhee, W. T. Merigold and Miss Carrie Seaton, representing the tent, and C. E. Brayton and W. I. Davies, representing the camp.

TALBERT

TALBERT, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robb and children have returned from a pleasant week's vacation which they spent at Sequoia National park.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sauer entertained as recent visitors, Mrs. Sauer's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krausneck, of Baldwin Park.

Mrs. Stoneacre, who has been confined to her home by illness for several months, suffered another relapse and has been quite ill again. Her daughter was down from Los Angeles but was called home, her daughter having become ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee White, who have been visiting in Ontario, returned home Monday night.

Word of the return of the Rev. O. E. Laird to the pastorate of the Talbert and Greenville churches has been received here. The Rev. Mr. Laird has been local pastor the past two years. Mr. and Mrs. Laird and son, O. E. Laird, Jr., have been in the north attending the annual conference at Sacramento.

The Rev. Edward Moody, of Garden Grove, retired minister of the Methodist church, south, occupied the pulpit of both of the Talbert and Greenville churches Sunday in the absence of the pastor. A vocal solo, "Jesus And I Work Together," was presented as a part of Sunday evening's service by the pastor.

No protests were registered at the budget meeting for Fountain

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Indians gathered 'round and smiled. To Duncy one of them said, "Child, you make a real fine Indian with those feathers on your head."

"And now that you have joined our race, we'll put some bright paint on your face. Right on your little cheek bones we will smear a real bright red."

They led him to a little tent and then inside they promptly went. There sat a little Indian maid. She jumped up to her feet.

"I'll gladly paint your face," said she. "You'll look as warlike as can be." And then she piled some blankets up and said, "Please have a seat."

It wasn't long till Duncy found that when the paint was smeared around it tickled and he had to laugh. "Be quiet," said the maid. "You'll make me put the hoes on wrong. Just sit real still. It won't take long. When all the other Tinsies see you they will be afraid."

But she was wrong. The Tiny-mites had seen a lot of funny sights and when wee Duncy walked outside, they all laughed right out loud.

Said one, "My, what a funny face. Why, your small nose looks out of place." Then Duncy loudly shouted, "I'm an Indian and I'm proud."

"Let's see you do an Indian dance," cried Scouty. "Go on, take a chance!" And Duncy very promptly started dancing all around the place.

The exercise soon made him puff and he exclaimed, "I've had enough. If you kids will wait here for me, I'll run and wash my face."

While they were waiting Windy cried, "Ah, I am going to have a ride! Here comes a baby camel and it's cute as it can be."

At first the camel seemed real shy, but it grew friendly, by and by. As Windy gently patted it, he said, "I'll soon like me."

BONERS

There is a man who watches the Scottish Highlands at night. He is called the Black Watch.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

Food is digested by the action of the lungs. Digestion is brought on by the lungs having something the matter with them.

The food then assimilated through the windpipe and pores, and passes off by evaporation through a lot of little holes in the skin called caterpillars.

The food is nourished in the stomach. If you were to eat anything hard you would be unable to digest it and consequently would have indigestion.

The gall bladder throws off juice from the blood which passes through it.

We call the kidneys the bread basket, because they are where the bread goes. They lie surrounded by the heart.

LAGUNANS HIT ORDINANCE ON BATHING SUITS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 23.—Following a complaint by W. H. Theobald to the city council that he had been treated discourteously by a police officer, when he was found on the beach with his shoulder straps down, prominent citizens are taking up the cause of the male bathers who wish to sun themselves, sans uppers, and copies of a petition to the legislative body are being circulated and signed readily. Young business women have joined with the more staid merchants and professional men in asking the council to amend Ordinance No. 66, so that the city law "shall not require that members of the male sex wear any covering above the waist line."

Copies of the petition have been placed at the Citizens' bank, the desk of Hotel Laguna and in Travaglini's cafe and will be circulated in other ways. Among the signers are Postmaster Brayton S. Norton, Frank D. Hevener, executive vice president of the bank; Hal Warner, manager of Hotel Laguna; John C. Gibson, cashier of the bank; Dr. J. Earl Reppine, dentist; Howard W. Planalp, a bank director; Ed S. Cousse and Charles J. Barnes Jr., business men; Mrs. Fern Burford of the Burford Art galleries; Wayne Moore, director; Mrs. Charlotte Guyer, Mrs. Flora Skidmore and the Misses Margery Watkins and Doris Messinger, all young business women.

Members of the city council said that the ordinance had been passed at the request of citizens and that if the petitions showed it was the will of a majority of the voters and property owners that the law should be amended, they would try to give the people what they wanted.

Police Chief Abe W. Johnson said his officers were instructed to be courteous at all times and that he had received no complaint. He was sure that no member of the regular force was involved, although special policemen had been on duty at times.

Hunsackers Face Court On Monday

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 23.—O. K. and A. O. Hunsacker, who cut quite a wide swath in these parts when the oil well was being dug, will appear before Judge John Landell Monday to answer two felony charges, two labor charges and a misdemeanor. Arrested recently in Chicago and held for Los Angeles authorities, they were served with Orange county warrants while in the latter city and brought here by deputy sheriffs. They brought bonds with them and furnished bonds in $4000 each. Judge Landell was informed they were being held in $10,000 bail in Los Angeles.

The felony charges allege issuance of checks with intent to defraud. One was given to Dr. Paul H. Esslinger and asserted made out in the sum of $128.25 and the other to Mrs. Marie Tullos, with whom they boarded, and was alleged to be in the sum of $116. An additional charge of defrauding an innkeeper was lodged against the oil men.

The charges brought under the labor act will be prosecuted by the state labor commission and the other charges by the district attorney's office.

Beer Bottles Turned Over To Unemployed

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—The local Unemployment association has received the five large stone-ware jars and numerous bottles formerly used by L. L. Patch, of Newport Beach, in making home brew. Following the trial of Patch Thursday, the jars and bottles were moved to the association headquarters in the Ernest Armstrong garage. The jars will be filled with sauerkraut and the beer bottles with tomato ketchup. Patch was found guilty but the jury recommended leniency. He was to be sentenced today.

NEW OIL WELL STARTED SOON AT YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, July 23.—Machinery is being assembled and work is under way on a derrick 300 feet west of Johnson No. 1 well, south of Yorba Linda, and north of Buena Vista street, where oil men feel a producing well can be secured. As soon as materials are ready, the well will be spudded in for a 24-hour day drilling program.

Interest opened in the field when oil men, backed by L. O. Foreman and a group of other producers, reopened the Johnson No. 1, formerly of the General Petroleum lease, and put it on the pump, since when it has been producing around 200 barrels a day, it is said.

Johnson No. 1 is pumping 31 gravity oil from about 3,700 feet. The well, before being put on production, was lowered about 30 feet over the original depth.

OIL WORKERS OF BREA GET JOBS

BREA, July 23.—Floyd Casner of Brea, will go to Seal Beach to work for the Continental Oil company on a new well July 25. Ira, 23, and 209 East Birch street, will join a group of five other men working for the Union Oil company at Orcutt field, to work over some old oil wells. They will begin work Monday.

Brea Auxiliary In Card Party

BREA, July 23.—The American Legion auxiliary held a card party in Legion hall Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ella Stumbo and daughter, Mrs. Freda Bancroft, had charge of refreshments. Mrs. Ralph Nicodemus had charge of the tables, seven in number, four at bridge and three playing "500." The winner of the first bridge prize was V. J. Kubin, while the second prize went to J. E. Wilson and the third prize to Mrs. A. Grueter, of Fullerton. Of those playing "500," Mrs. Caroline Glenn, of Fullerton, won first prize; O. S. Close, second prize, and Mrs. J. Priddy, of Fullerton, third.

Mrs. Floyd Sedan, who plays with the Sunshine Girls orchestra, favored with several musical numbers. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

CITY LICENSE ORDINANCE IN SEAL BEACH HIT

SEAL BEACH, July 23.—An attack on the city license ordinance, recently adopted, was made by wholesale companies at the council meeting Thursday night, after local authorities interpreted the act to mean that all trucks and delivery wagons doing business in the city must pay an annual license fee of $15 this year.

City Attorney Burr Brown stated that in his opinion, the intent of the ordinance was not to license wholesale delivery trucks, but to cover the retail house to house dealer, and trucking or transfer companies doing business in the city. The matter was referred to the city attorney to make a definite report at the next meeting.

Local merchants claimed that the new act would work a hardship on retail business houses here, due to the fact that wholesale firms planned a delivery charge on all merchandise delivered, to cover the license fee.

Councilman Waldler asked to be informed on the duties and wage scale of the city engineer's office, stating that he believed the cost of maintaining the office was too high at present. The city engineer is also officially designated as acting city assessor and tax collector. Ray Shaw, engineer, stated that the duties, during the completion of the tax roll, were too much for one man and it was necessary to employ help at this time. Waldler estimated that the cost of assessing and tax collecting for the year will amount to approximately $3500. After reading the ordinance establishing the duties of the offices and the wage scale, the council agreed not to make a change until the tax roll is completed.

Bids from several Orange county certified public accountants for auditing the city books was received. The three lowest bidders will be asked to appear at a special meeting next week.

The mayor was instructed to confer with city officials of Long Beach and Los Angeles county supervisors regarding the dedication of the new Alameda bridge, which will be open to traffic soon.

SILVERADO MAN KEEPS 21 SNAKES

SILVERADO, July 23.—A demand for the wing of a hummingbird, to add to the collection being made by a woman, shocked nature lovers of Silverado this week, but not even at the snake farm of Otto Puckert would the life of one of these tiny feathered beauties be sacrificed.

Out of captivity the 21 snakes in Mr. Puckert's collection would feast only twice a year but cage life grows monotonous and eating is the only diversion. The bill of fare includes gophers, rats, squirrels, mice and an occasional jay or butter bird.

Three rattlers, the largest 5 feet 9 inches long, are kept by Mr. Puckert. A ring necked belly racer, a king snake, a coral, a mountain gopher, a white gopher and 13 water snakes comprise his collection.

Mr. Puckert's three-year-old daughter plays with all of the snakes with the exception of the rattlers.

H. H. COTTON IS APPOINTED ON FINANCE BOARD

SAN CLEMENTE, July 23.—Hamilton H. Cotton, Southern California financier and sportsman, owner of the La Brea estate, member of the Spanish village city council, has been appointed to the southwestern board of the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation. Cotton took his seat on the board this week in Los Angeles. He is the only Democrat on the board, the other three members being Republicans. It is said that the board will be reorganized soon and that under the new plan, five members will sit on the board. Changes may be made on the board, it is said, but Cotton will retain his seat.

This is the second time Cotton has served the government. He was a member of the food administration organization during the war. The San Clemente sportsman was a former delegate to the national convention at Chicago this year. He was also a delegate to the Democratic conventions of 1916, 1920 and 1924.

The new member of the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation organization is a director of the Bank of America, Hollywood Development company, Municipal Bond company, Dominguez Estate company, Carson Estate company and numerous state and civic associations. He is also a member of the tax committee of the National Association of Real Estate boards.

Bridge Enjoyed In San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, July 23.—Mrs. Thomas E. Murphy entertained a bridge club at her home on the Palisades this week. The host won high honors, with second prize going to Mrs. John Riley taking the guest prize. After a luncheon bridge was played. Those present were Mrs. O. Hanson, Jr., Mr. I. M. Bartow, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Jr., Mrs. Hugo Carlson, Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mrs. J. C. Henderson, Mrs. Virgil Westbrook, Miss Emma and Miss Bertha Wierk and the guests, Mrs. John Riley and Mrs. W. N. Holmes.

Mrs. John Riley entertained the members of the San Clemente Contract Bridge club at her home this week. A covered dish dinner was followed by bridge. Those present were Mrs. John Riley, Mrs. Roy Divil, Mrs. Henry Fate, Mrs. M. A. Cohen, Mrs. Elbert Hymer, Mrs. Frank Houser, Mrs. Eleanor Clark and Mrs. J. B. Lape.

The San Clemente Sewing and Reading club was entertained this week by Mrs. Millie Hoops. After luncheon sewing was enjoyed. Those present were Miss Emma and Miss Bertha Wierk, Mesdames W. J. Moulton, O. Hanson, Jr., Hugo Carlson, I. M. Bartow and Frank T. Morrell. Mrs. W. J. Lawless gave a reading.

Aviation Draws Island Children

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—The youth of this nation appears to be just as intensely interested in aviation as ever, judging by 115 students at the Masonic Home camp on Balboa island.

Lieut. J. H. Bundy, of March field, the Army air field near Riverside, flew down here the other day, landing on the heights just above the island, sometimes known as Williamson airport, and spoke to the Masonic home students at an evening meeting.

When the time came for asking questions it was found that nearly everybody wanted to know something about flying. The boys and girls at the camp are, also, of course, much taken with sailing, their home being located on Newport bay.

GARDEN GROVE

SCHOOL COSTS AT CAPISTRANO AND SERRA CUT

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 23.—No opposition developed to the proposed budgets of the San Juan Capistrano Union High school district or to those of the San Juan and Serra Elementary school boards at the public hearings held this week, and with a few slight changes the budgets will be adopted. About 11 per cent was cut from the expenditures of last year in the estimate for next year. The expenditures totaled $70,515.75 and the estimates for 1932-33 are $62,786.76.

A cut of more than $5000 was made in the budget for the high school district in spite of the fact that increased attendance is expected for next year. The increase in average daily attendance last year warranted the employment of extra teachers and the salaries increased from $15,495 to $17,300. Increases were made in operation costs, library costs, maintenance and transportation, fixed charges and general control, but they are more than offset by a decrease of $12,000 in capital outlay. Charles E. Crumrine is president of the board and Dr. Paul H. Esslinger is the clerk. The estimated budget for 1932-33 totals $62,786.76.

In the San Juan district, the decrease is $425, the estimated total being $12,975. Nearly $2000 was lopped from the budget for the Doheny park school, the salaries of teachers being cut from $6150 to $4650 and capital outlay, being reduced about $800.

Flag Stop For Corona Del Mar

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—Following conference with officials of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the Pacific Greyhound line, which runs large buses up and down the Pacific coast and elsewhere in the country, will establish a flag stop at Corona del Mar, the chamber was informed in a letter from the company today.

The company is arranging for a semaphore at Corona del Mar and all coaches will stop on flag in either direction, the letter stated. The coaches now pass there, both north and southbound, between San Diego, Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Francisco and other points.

Former Pastor Party Honoree

GARDEN GROVE, July 23.—The Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Harkness and son, John, who are houseguests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers on West Chapman avenue, were given a pleasant surprise Thursday evening when 53 members of the Methodist church congregation gathered at the Rogers' cottage at Laguna Beach.

The Rev. Mr. Harkness, who is a retired minister and lives with his family at Skyland, in the San Bernardino mountains, is a former pastor of the local church.

Following a pot luck supper, a social evening was enjoyed.

Noted Engineer Newport Visitor

NEWPORT BEACH, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Modjeski are scheduled to arrive here from New York and Chicago this week to visit Modjeski's son, Felix B. Modjeski, former city councilman and now a realtor here.

Ralph Modjeski is one of the world's foremost civil engineers and after a short vacation in this vicinity plans to go to San Francisco, where he is one of the consulting engineers on the huge Oakland-San Francisco bridge being built there.

THE BONUS FORCES CLING TO WASHINGTON

The Bonus marchers who have camped down in Washington are in no hurry to leave, even though Congress has adjourned. It has been a hard nut for the police officials to crack. The utmost caution and diplomacy has been necessary in the handling of these men, and sometimes the officials have been at their wits' end to know what to do without creating trouble. These men could not be treated like a bunch of communists or agitators. Any forcible measures would have provoked resentment all over the country.

The occasion which brought them to Washington has much to be said for it as well as against it. But the state of the country was such that their demands could not be granted without inflicting hardship upon the rest of the people. There has been a great deal of forbearance with the men because of the service which they rendered in the war. These men who have "dug in until 1945 unless the adjusted service certificates are paid before that time" have found a way of getting transportation and food allowances without trekking out of the city. Some have turned their transportation tickets into cash, and some have used them to go forth recruiting others to come to Washington and lay siege. Allowance for automobile travel has also been diverted. The Washington authorities are confronted with a real problem.

At first, a sentiment was created against these veterans by classing them as Reds. But the leaders of the bonus marchers have done their utmost to weed out the Reds among them, and have succeeded. The danger is that if the numbers increase, and the condition of the country does not improve, that something like a Fascist coup may be pulled off. The encouragement of such leaders as Gen. Smedley Butler is just what gave Italy its Mussolini. We are not anticipating any such results; but we may just as well recognize that another winter like that of the past three in this country, with relief agencies exhausting their resources will make it necessary for the Federal Government to do more for the unemployed than it has done during the past years of the depression. The chief difficulty is that the condition which confronts the bonus army men confronts the great mass of the people of the country. The same remedy should be applied for all.

The coming convention of the American Legion may find a way out of the problem which vexes Washington. We hope so. But we cannot overlook the fact that the rank and file of the Legion is largely in favor of what the bonus marchers are asking for, and that it will be no easy matter for the official group to keep control if they oppose the men in the ranks. A great amount of wisdom on the part of the government officials and the leaders of the American Legion will be called for in the next few months.

FELIX FRANKFURTER DECLINES

A short time ago we called attention to the appointment by Gov. Ely of Massachusetts of Felix Frankfurter to the vacancy on the Supreme Judicial Bench of that state. The Executive Council, the confirming power, and composed of seven Republicans and one Democrat, which has been scrutinizing the Democratic Governor's appointment with a keen political eye, was in a quandary to know what to do. There was no question of Prof. Frankfurter's fitness. But there were those who recalled his attitude in favor of Sacco and Vanzetti, the Mooney case of Massachusetts; and they were horrified at the thought of a liberal on the Supreme bench of the state. To be sure, he had the endorsement of former United States Supreme Court Justice Holmes, and many other quite as eminent jurists. The Massachusetts Bar Association made no protest against the confirmation.

Fortunately, for the Executive Council, Prof. Frankfurter withdrew his name. It saved the members considerable embarrassment. His appointment, he stated in his letter, was a surprise to him. He was not aware of it until he saw it in the newspapers. At first he was inclined to favor acceptance of the honor; but his colleagues on the faculty of the Harvard Law School urged him to decline. It would be too serious a loss to the school to think of his withdrawal from the faculty. And, further, his colleagues assured him that his position on the faculty was a post of very much larger influence and power than a place on the Supreme bench. The Harvard Law School is considered to be the outstanding school of law in the country. Its students come from every section of the United States. The opportunity given to a member of that faculty to influence thousands of young men who are to become prominent at the bar was one which no one could underestimate. So, Mr. Frankfurter remained with the Law School, and turned down an appointment which is the life ambition of every member of the bar in Massachusetts.

Prof. Frankfurter has been associated with every national administration in some form or another from Woodrow Wilson's on. Nothing can add to his fame. Yet, as we said in a previous editorial, he would have adorned the bench in a manner which could be equaled or surpassed by few. The tragic feature of the whole matter has been that there were a few narrow partisans who started to prevent his confirmation by the Executive Council.

A Minnesota veterinarian expects to put a window in a cow's side, explaining that it will enable him to watch her digestion and will not hurt the cow. At that, the cow will have a pane in the stomach, to say the least.

THE PASSING OF A GREAT DIPLOMAT

Jules Jusserand, for 22 years the ambassador of France to the United States, died this week. During all those years he was acceptable to the administrations in power. An unfortunate incident in the Coolidge administration led to his recall. A casual criticism of something that was said by M. Jusserand on the part of President Coolidge made his continuance undesirable both for him and for the United States.

Since his retirement he has never ceased to be a friend of the United States. He understood its people and its policies. He became the interpreter of France to the United States and the United States to France. He was much hurt at the reports of a change of attitude on the part of many Americans toward his country in these later years, and he took every opportunity given to bring back the era of good feeling and confidence which existed during his residence in Washington.

Woodrow Wilson was reported to have said once that he wished he might find an ambassador to the court of St. James who would not cease to be an American and become an Englishman after a short stay in London. M. Jusserand never ceased to be a loyal Frenchman, even though he became one of the greatest admirers of the United States among the diplomatic corps. That confidence was reciprocated by the presidents from Roosevelt on. His death will be keenly felt by those who knew him in the country, and that to admire him. President Hoover's note of condolence to his widow certainly expressed the sentiment of all those who were acquainted with this great and friendly diplomat.

Vacationing Anywhere

San Francisco Chronicle

The vacation season is on—some of us are still poor enough to have vacations.

Some of us, also, are poor enough to take that vacation at home. If there is a garden outside and good books inside, and a wife and family to get acquainted with, that is really not so bad a way to spend it. You will at least not have to use the first two weeks of work to rest from your vacation; there is plenty of exercise in a pick and shovel in the back yard, food for the mind in books, and refreshment for the soul in the converse of family and friends. Rejoice in the fact that you have a home to stay home in.

For those who can go away, the choice used to be the seashore or the mountains. Now it is chiefly which direction the automobile shall turn. There are good roads both ways and good hotels—too good—at either end of the journey. The mountains are scarcely mountains, if all you do is look at them, and the sea is not even a dream, if all you do is bathe in it, or roll on the beach, flirt and eat peanuts.

But for a few the mountains may still be Hellenic gods, to wrestle with, and the sea a pantheistic Nirvana, in which to lose one's self in infinity. There are adventures in mysticism, still, and excursions of the imagination. There are streams with something more precious than trout, and meadows which need no golf to tempt the feet. There are still peaks up which no motor road goes and seaside vistas unmarred by jazzy casinos. He who has eyes and ears can still discover something to see and hear with them.

But he who can perceive these things anywhere can also find them at home.

Markets Are Reciprocal

San Francisco Chronicle

China, it turns out, likes American wheat. Whole multitudes of Chinese, fed from American relief cargoes, have found that they can work more, for less food, eating wheat than eating rice or millet. They want more. If America will loan them the money to buy it, they will take more.

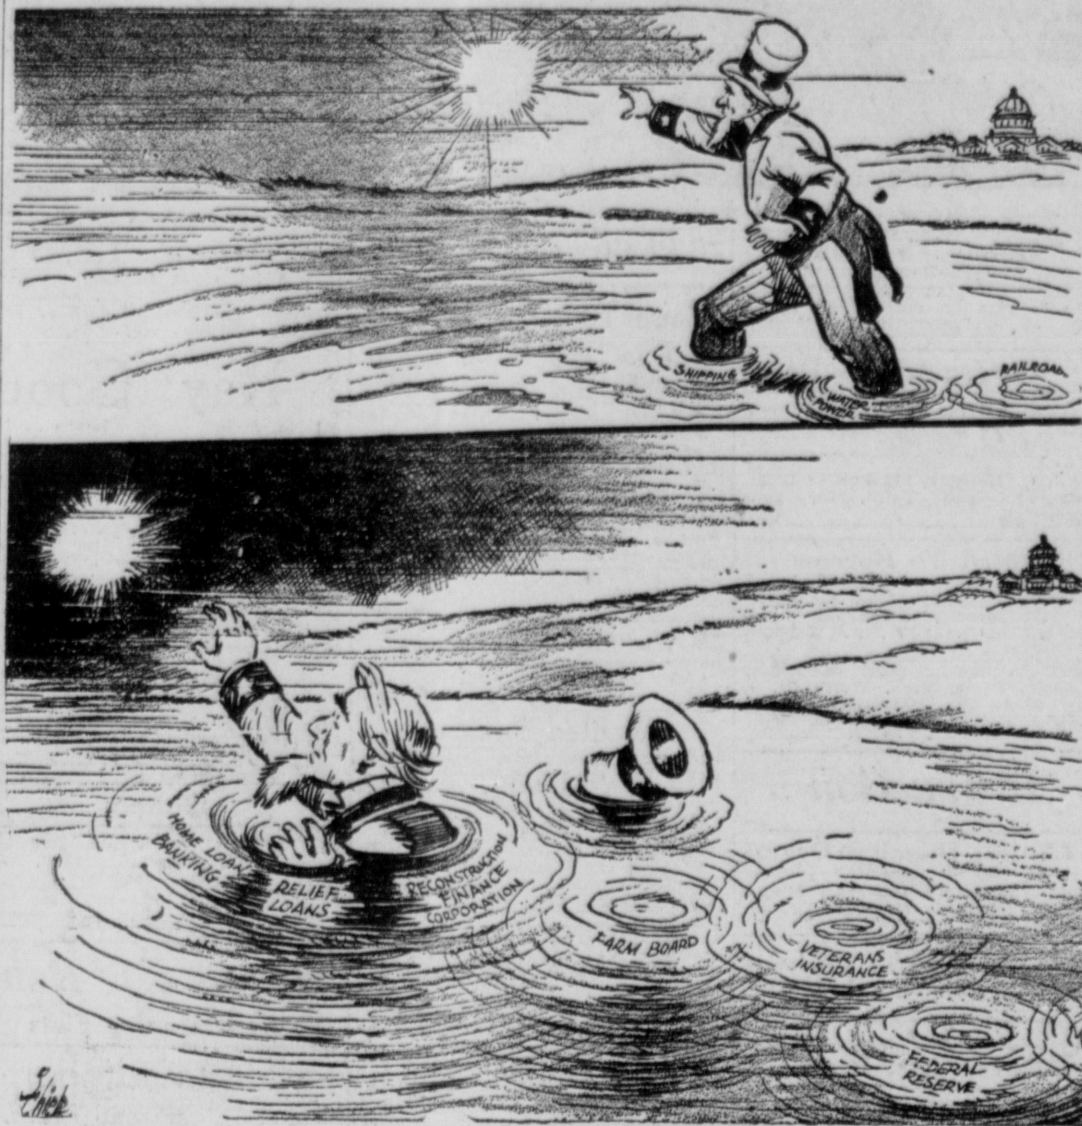

Since such a loan, if made, would never be repaid, it would perhaps be cheaper, in the present emergency, to give them the wheat free, to build up still more wheat appetite, and to keep still more wheat-eating people alive, to buy more, when the time comes that they are able to pay for it.

But let us have no illusions. Neither China nor anywhere else can be regarded as a mere "market." What we would like, of course, would be to sell to everybody and buy from nobody, taking our pay in the American dollars which are apparently assumed to grow on trees, in these hypothetical "market" countries.

The fact is, of course, that China can become a great "market" for America only as America becomes an equally great market for China. It is for us to choose whether we want this to happen. But our choice is only between having or not having both halves of this equation. To choose that we shall sell to China, but not buy of it, is to choose the impossible.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WHERE THE BLAME BELONGS

In the days before man was created,
Plants and bugs were abroad on the sphere,
And readily found in the ambient ground
The food to promote their career.
The plants furnished sap, which fermented,
And drink for the insects supplied;
By imbibing the stuff they became rather rough
As do men, with a totter or tide.

By and by the meandering cave men
Saw these creatures of plant juice partake
And sampled the brew with a chaser of dew
In the evenings, to keep them awake.
They found that it brought them illusions,
Filled their souls with light laughter and mirth,
And their heads quickly swelled till the notion they held
That they were the kings of the earth.

Today we still read of the revels
Of the hard-drinking three-flagon men
Who, the evening before they set out for a war,
Passed the bowl 'round again and again.
We read of the hard-tipping Roman,
The constantly bibulous Gaul,
And the Celt on his braes, in the old fighting days,
Who never was sober at all.

Small credit we give to these warriors
For the crude wicked lives that they led;
But "full nist" we say, for they've all passed away,
And one must not speak ill of the dead.
But although it was most injudicious
To take such large numbers of "tots"
From the too handy jugs, bear in mind that the bugs
Were the first and original eots.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today
From The Register Files

JULY 23, 1918

Thirty boys from Santa Ana and different points in Orange county left for Y.M.C.A. camp at Catalina, where they were to have two weeks under the direction of Ralph G. Cole, who had returned especially for the expedition although he had recently tendered his resignation as Orange county Y.M.C.A. secretary. The electrical clock in the big tower of St. John's Lutheran church, Orange, has been taken down for a thorough overhauling and was not to be re-installed for several days.

A county Christian Endeavor rally was in session in the Christian church of Orange with Chas. E. Culver as the principal speaker. Reports were given by delegates to the recent state convention in Sacramento.

Miss Verna Peterson, who had been teaching in Orange county schools with much success, received notice of her appointment as teacher of the eighth grade of the Taft schools at a salary of $1200 for the school year.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

BUSINESS AND POLITICS IN 1932

Since business leadership failed to save us from dire depression, the 1932 campaign will offer unusual temptation to the demagogue to damn the business interests as a vast conspiracy against the common good.

I hope none of our national leaders will yield to this temptation.

The economic leadership of the nation has much valid criticism coming, and I would not see it shielded from any of this valid indictment, but what we need above all is a statesmanlike reconsideration of the inter-relationship of business and politics in the American scene.

As I have indicated before in these articles, the inter-relationship of business and politics has been over-simplified alike by the politicians and by the business men.

The politicians have over-simplified the problems by assuming that business is essentially an anti-social process, that the more successful it is the more sinister it is, and that the primary relation of politics to business is that of a policeman shadowing a suspicious character.

The business men have oversimplified the problem by assuming that business is essentially a private hunting preserve, that any suggestion of social concern with business policy or social control of business power is an imperinent intrusion, and that Utopia would be just around the corner if they could only get more business men into positions of political power or, failing that, could fill all strategic offices with colorless and controllable puppets, and thus put an end to governmental interference with business.

Both of these points of view are sterile.

Both deal exclusively with the negative problem of the abuse of business power, one asserting it, the other denying it.

The politicians have a catch-the-criminal philosophy of business and politics.

The business men have a dodge-the-policeman philosophy of business and politics.

Both seem to regard modern business as just a big burly boy come suddenly into a neighborhood, about whom the boys already there have only one question: Shall we let him do as he pleases or try to control him?

But modern business is not something standing outside the social order threatening it; modern business is an organic part of the social order. Statesmen must wisely relate it to the other forces of American life.

IDLE DAUGHTERS

The gift of work, the skill of one's hands, the creation of one's hand and brain, are chief gifts. They are the fortune that the magicians charmed out of the depth of the pit. They are the wings the fairies put upon our shoulders when we were born. How in the world did mothers come to think them a burden, a hardship wished upon their daughters?

It is easy to understand that a mother who had slaved all her life wished mightily to save her daughters from the suffering she endured. But in this day of labor-saving devices in the home nobody need slave. Nobody need fear the work of the household. No mother need fear to teach her daughters to work. It is the other way about. Every mother should fear idleness for her daughters.

Uselessness is a burden to its victims. There is no more pitiable situation than that of being helpless. Idleness creates that situation. Daughters are its victims oftener than sons. "I don't want my daughters to spoil their hands. I can do the few dishes and the bit of housework myself. I'd rather they practiced or did their lessons."

Just so. Then mother washes the dishes, puts them away, tidies the kitchen after she has done a day's work. She made breakfast, cleared it away, did the marketing, prepared lunch and cleared it away, ironed a few pieces for the girls, mended a few bits, started dinner, set the table, sewed bows on slippers, snaps on underthings, set the table, served the dinner, and cleared it away. Why didn't she let her daughters help? Because she was saving their hands.

Just why hands should be saved at the expense of a mother's hands is beyond me. It ought to be the other way. It is mother who should be saved. Putting that aside consider what is happening to the girls. They varnish their finger nails, stain them so that they look like bits of over ripe watermelon, powder their noses and rouge their cheeks. What for? To be attractive. They succeed. They are attractive. Does the attraction hold? Rarely.

Young men earn little money. They need wives who can stretch a dollar beyond its possibilities. That means they need intelligent useful wives who can carry their end of the job. A daughter brought up in idleness, one whose finger-nails come before any other consideration is not only useless, she is stupid.

Not naturally stupid. She has acquired stupidity through idleness. Intelligence grows by interpreting useful experiences, if she is not trained to work, then her hands may be models for the manure but they lack the beauty of intelligence and service. Young men cannot afford that sort of thing and they pass by on the other side.

Train the daughters to work. Let them share the household tasks. Give them a share of the responsibility of the home. Train them until they can take charge of the household and do as well as you can. Never mind what happens to their nails. Nails will grow again. Why should they be painted talons? Trim them short and put the hands to useful service. The result will be an intelligence that illuminates the whole girl. Her attraction will be the sort that catches and holds. Her spirit will be the kind that comforts and sustains. Idleness is a curse and its results are failure and defeat.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.) (Copyright, 1932, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

ALLIES ADVANCE

On July 23, 1918, victorious American and French troops crossed the Marne along a front of several miles and seized the towns of Jaulgonne, Busancy, Marfaux and Mailly-Raineval.

French forces also pushed the Germans back more than two miles near Montdidier, and made important gains near Rheims.

German losses since July 15 were estimated at more than 180,000, of which 40,000 were prisoners, by allied experts.

The British armored cruiser Mormora was sunk, either by a mine or a submarine. Ten members of the crew were reported missing.
